Welcome!

It's a funny old life, you know, being paid to watch the soaps. Of course, it's like a dream come true for a soap nut like me – but it does mean you rather take your work home with you. You sit back on your sofa, after a hard day immersed in the world of soap, only to… erm… immerse yourself in the world of soap again!

I'm not moaning – although keeping up with all things soap does mean I miss out on other shows, and can't join in any conversations about Game Of Thrones or Killing Eve.

> "I'd rather have dragons like Evelyn!"

Frankly, though, I'd much rather have dragons such as Corrie's Evelyn over those ones of Westeros, or whatever they call it. And as for assassins, well, I don't need some psychopath sashaying her way around beautiful European cities slaying everything in her wake – because I have Hollyoaks killer Breda McQueen and her poisoned lasagne!

I'm quite certain I know who's winning here…

Carla FLEES!

SHE SUFFERS A MENTAL HEALTH CRISIS FOLLOWING THE ROOF COLLAPSE AT UNDERWORLD...

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

Peter is doing his best to look out for Carla at this trying time

The tension between the members of the Connor family is palpable

Carla's mental health takes a nosedive this week, as she continues to blame herself for the tragic death of Rana Habeeb – leading to her doing a runner from the cobbles!

As the week goes on, Carla becomes more paranoid, fearing that she's being spied on, and even suspecting her loved ones are trying to poison her. But there's worse to come after Peter takes Carla to the medical centre for help, only for her to abscond once his back is turned…

"Things are really serious by this point – Carla just wants to get away from everyone," sighs Alison King, who plays her. "She thinks that they're all in on it, that they want to make her suffer, to put her in prison. It's gone beyond the point where she can sit down and talk about it. She just needs to be on her own."

MYSTERY MESSAGE

Dealing with her remorse over the factory roof collapse is tough enough for Carla, yet it's a doubly difficult time for her as it's also the week of Aidan's birthday. But Carla can't muster the strength to join her family at his graveside.

"On any other day, Carla would've liked to attended – but emotions are so high within the family that she feels she can't," Alison tells us. "Peter puts pressure on her to go, though, and it's so uncomfortable when she arrives there. Carla really can't understand why Peter would make her do something with the people who hate her. She wants to remember Aidan, and Michelle does try to be nice and invite her back to the pub. But it's hideously awkward…"

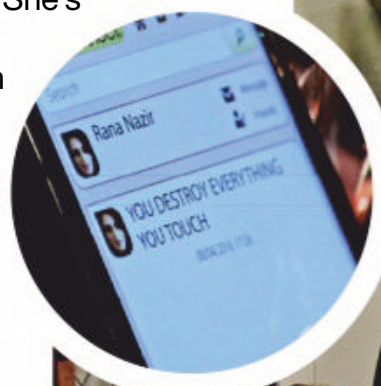

However, things are set to get even more awkward as the Connor clan raises a toast to Aidan back at the Rovers – and Carla receives a mysterious text message on her phone, seemingly from Rana! Any sane person would realise that Rana is dead and the message must be a hoax. Yet in her deeply troubled state, Carla reckons it could be real…

INSIDE SCOOP

"Carla thinks her family is playing a trick on her," says Alison. "After the initial shock of the message, I think she does then believe Rana is alive, and it's confusing for her. She can't work out why somebody would do that, and why Rana would hide. She's already broken from what people have been saying about her."

The disturbing text messages tip fragile Carla over the edge

SLOWLY UNRAVELLING

Peter is further concerned as he finds Carla sitting alone in Victoria Gardens, convinced she's being watched. After taking her home to the Barlow house, both Peter and Ken are alarmed when Carla starts knocking back wine and staring into space – and as she receives another text, she freaks out.

"Carla's guilt is all-consuming," admits Alison. "After she found out that Rana had died, it was a tipping point in Carla's life. The paranoia starts after she receives the message, and she feels she's on her own in this. Peter is trying to help her, yet Carla is not taking it the right way."

SEEKING HELP

While Peter tries to find out who's behind the messages, things get worse for Carla. Fearing she's being spied on, she covers the camera on her laptop – and starts to suspect Peter is out to get her, too!

But it's when Peter finds his girlfriend shoeless and staring at the shattered remains of the factory that he realises something is very wrong. And his only choice is to get Carla professional help…

"Carla just isn't herself," shares Alison. "As her paranoia grows, she feels she has to get away from people, because she thinks they're out to get her. She needs to see a doctor, but she's just not ready for that."

At the medical centre, Toyah tells Peter that Carla will need to be assessed by a mental health professional. However, it's then that Carla makes a run for it, fleeing the centre and leaving Peter terrified.

As he alerts the police to Carla's disappearance, can they find her before she comes to any serious harm?

Carla on the streets!

Carla's mental state is set to get worse...

This week marks the start of a huge storyline for Carla, which will lead to a standalone episode this spring exploring her mental health – and sees the Underworld boss end up on the streets!

Star Alison has been filming on location with co-star Tristan Gemmill, who plays Robert, another of the Corrie roof fiddler suspects…

"It's been the toughest storyline yet for me," she confesses. "It's been a real challenge every day, being in different sorts of mania from 7.30am, working your body and mind into a frantic state."

Meanwhile, it's thought that the reveal of the Street's big 'whodunnit?' is likely to air towards the end of May. This Morning's Sharon Marshall recently hinted that the culprit will be unmasked in the run-up to "a big awards ceremony", which we think is the British Soap Awards. Exciting!

Rhona responds to Kim's plea for help with one of her poorly horses...

...but it's all too much for Rhona, as the ill vet endures awful pain

EMMERDALE | ITV TUESDAY

Rhona collapses in agony!

SHE'S SET FOR AN UNHAPPY BIRTHDAY, AS SHE RETURNS TO WORK TOO EARLY...

Birthday girl Rhona receives a dramatic wake-up call this week – after the village vet responds to an emergency call-out, and keels over in terrible pain.

While Rhona is still resting following her hysterectomy, when Kim begs for help with her ill horse – and fellow vets Paddy and Vanessa are busy elsewhere – she just can't say no. However, as she heads out to the stables, there are dreadful consequences…

"The pain is intense, and Rhona's terrified," admits Zoe Henry, who plays her. "She's lugging this massive vet's bag around, and she's only just been allowed to drive again. There are so many things she shouldn't be doing, yet Kim's desperate – and Rhona can't help but help, even though she's not well enough!"

This dramatic scene follows what's already a disastrous birthday for Rhona. She and boyfriend Pete end up having a nasty row after Rhona takes offence at the gifts he gives her. However, she's very much regretting her outburst by the time that Kim comes calling.

"Pete's actually been very thoughtful – he's been incredible all along, really," sighs Zoe. "But he's bought her a fluffy dressing gown and some fluffy slippers, which ordinarily she'd enjoy. They hit a nerve, though, because for her they sort of symbolise an old lady. And with her feeling so delicate about where she's at in life – as she's going through the menopause after her surgery – she gets really emotional."

> "Rhona is very worried that something serious could be going on…"

Desperate to make amends, Pete rushes out in order to find a replacement gift of sexy underwear. However, he only succeeds in making the whole situation 10 times worse…

"Pete couldn't try harder, could he?" grins Zoe. "But the underwear is also a clanger as far as Rhona's concerned. He can't do right for doing wrong, although I don't think anybody could in this situation – it's just indicative of where Rhona is emotionally. When she loses it this time, though, Pete gives her few home truths, and I can't say that I blame him!"

Pete's reaction leaves Rhona feeling like a fool, but there's no time for wallowing once Kim arrives, deeply worried for the welfare of one of her horses. And by the time the pair arrive at the stables, Rhona is already struggling.

"She's feeling really weary," shares Zoe. "However, she gives Kim some good advice, and it's only as she's leaving that she starts experiencing sharp pains. Rhona knows very well why this is happening – she might not admit it to anyone, but she knows, deep down. She's not an idiot! She's really worried that something serious could be going on…"

With Kim having already headed off elsewhere, will anyone come to Rhona's rescue before anything worse happens to her?

Allison Jones

BABY BOTHER

Zoe fears that unwanted sexy lingerie is the very least of Pete and Rhona's problems...

"This isn't an easy journey that Pete and Rhona are on – that's visible for all to see," warns Zoe. "I reckon that Rhona will struggle to let go of this idea of Pete not wanting kids any more, because I think she knows deep down that he probably does. He's so much younger that I don't believe she can bear the thought of being the one to stop him from having children. So there are rough currents ahead for them!"

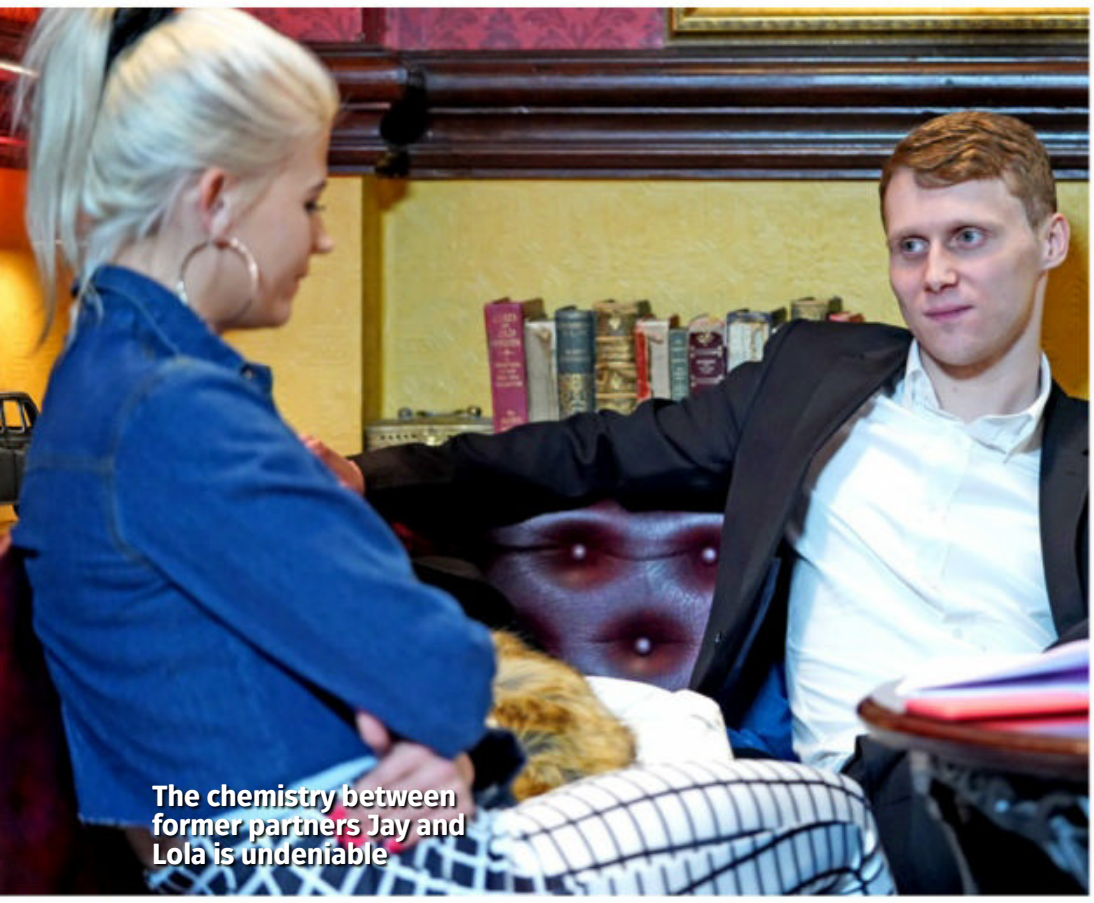

Pete's heart is in the right place, but he's on the wrong side of Rhona

EASTENDERS | BBC1 FRIDAY

Jay & Lola reunited?

THE FORMER LOVERS SHARE A PASSIONATE KISS...

The chemistry between former partners Jay and Lola is undeniable

The tension between Jay and Lola reaches boiling point this week – and the pair end up locking lips!

Ever since Lola returned, it's caused emotional torment for Jay, who still considers her the love of his life. He's been doing his best to ignore Lola as he still hasn't forgiven her for dumping him and running off with his mate, Dexter Hartman. However, when Billy steps in to force the old flames to start talking again, the feelings they once shared come flooding back.

"It's a lot for Jay to cope with," says our EastEnders insider. "He didn't expect Lola to come walking back into his life, and now it's thrown him completely. Jay was starting to build something with Ruby, but that's complicated too, so he's all over the place. He doesn't know which way to turn."

After Billy's intervention, Lola and Jay get chatting – and it's obvious the old spark between them is still there. However, Jay's left disappointed after Lola makes it clear that she's only interested in being pals. Resigned to being in the

> "Now he's seen Jay and Lola together, Ben is determined to drive a wedge between them"

The pair can't bottle up their emotions any longer – and they soon kiss

Jay and Lola shared a lot together during her last stay in Walford friend zone, Jay invites Lola for a drink and the duo enjoy reconnecting and having a laugh. But when scheming Ben witnesses what's going on, he's not impressed.

"Lola and Jay being so close is not what Ben wants at all," shares our spy. "He needs her to be focussed on their plan, and not distracted by split loyalties. Now he's seen Jay and Lola together, Ben's determined to drive a wedge between them."

However, despite Ben's warnings to stay far away from Jay, Lola invites him for another drink at the Vic. Again, the conversation is easy, and they are reminded of how much they love being in each other's company. So as Ben arrives and is clearly furious that Lola has defied him, she and Jay decide to run off and escape his glare.

Arriving at E20 in high spirits, Lola can't fight her feelings and she falls into Jay's arms, sealing their connection with a kiss. So, what will Ben do next to keep the pair apart, and will Jay reject Ruby in favour of Lola?

Kate White

"I don't know which way it's going to go!"

We catch up with Walford's Jamie Borthwick to grill him on Jay's complicated love life...

Hi, Jamie! What's going on? We thought Jay was well into Ruby...

He is! As far as Jay was aware, Lola was gone and dumped him over the phone for his mate. Now he's got this new person who he likes a lot and is really into – but then Lola's back like a whirlwind. It all kicks off again.

Who do you think Jay will end up with?

I don't know which way it's going to go! I'm just really lucky, aren't I? Whatever they spring on me, I'll happily take – both the girls are good. I think he's more suited to Lola, but there's something serious about Ruby that I love. They are both different.

How are you finding working alongside Max Bowden as Ben Mitchell?

I can't believe how well Max has slotted into this little family. We really hit it off straight away. It's almost as though he's been here for years – he's doing some great work, and is a wonderful addition to the show. Of course, nothing changes – I'm still very close friends with Harry Reid [who played Ben before]. I speak to him all the time, and he's doing fantastically well.

How would Jay feel if he finds out Ben is working against the family?

Jay loves his whole family – he doesn't want to see them at war with each other. I don't think he'll be best pleased if he ever learns that's happening.

Lily's shock death!

Lily can't bear the thought of saying goodbye to Romeo

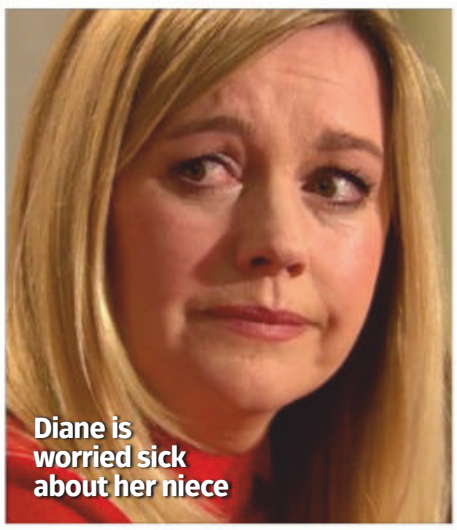

THE TEENAGER SUCCUMBS TO SEPSIS...

Prepare yourself for an utterly heart-wrenching week in Hollyoaks, as teenager Lily passes away suddenly after contracting sepsis.

The soap has worked closely with the charity UK Sepsis Trust to highlight how potentially devastating this illness can be. And while sepsis is something that can be treated if detected early, sadly Lily's story is set to end on a tragic note…

"I was in tears reading my final episodes," admits actress Lauren McQueen, who leaves the show after two years on our screens. "It's a huge storyline to go out on. Lily doesn't even know she has sepsis – she just thinks she has a cold or something. This story will hopefully make people more aware of the symptoms."

The week kicks off with Lily having a panic attack over a presentation at school – and when it transpires that she's been cutting herself again, her family is deeply worried about her mental state. And their concerned reactions prompt Lily to check herself into hospital in a bid to put an end to her self-harming.

Diane is worried sick about her niece

"Lily wants to get better for her family – she doesn't want to let anyone down," Lauren tells us. "Part of her just wants to get out of the village, because she feels that everywhere she turns there are reminders of when she's messed up. She hopes that she can start again on the mental health ward."

> "Lily has no idea how serious it really is…"

However, things don't quite pan out the way Lily imagines. When her boyfriend Romeo comes to visit, he drops the bombshell that he's facing a murder charge – and must flee the country! However, while he expects his meeting with Lily to be a tear-jerking goodbye, she has other ideas…

"Lily chases after Romeo, and begs him to let her go with him!" reveals Lauren. "She sees this as her escape. Part of Romeo knows it's not the right thing to do – he wants Lily to stay where she is and get better. But he wants to spend he rest of his life with her, so he decides to take the risk."

As the star-crossed lovers flee Hollyoaks, though, little do they realise that Lily is suffering from sepsis, having contracted the potentially deadly condition through self-harming. When the doctors alert Lily's family to her sudden disappearance, they also break the news that she has the infection – leading to mass panic from Lily's loved ones.

"It's a gradual thing throughout the episode, you see Lily getting worse and worse," explains Lauren. "But she just brushes it off and doesn't think anything of it. She has no idea how serious it really is…"

Diane, Tony and Prince face a race against time to locate Lily. We already know that the teenager will sadly succumb to her illness – but will her family find her in time to say their final goodbyes?

Sarah Ellis

Tragic Lily hopes she can start a new life

"A happy ending is the easy way out"

Star Lauren tells us why she's glad Lily is being killed off...

How did you react when you heard Lily would die in such a tragic way?
I was really shocked, to be honest. Lily's been through so much, and everyone just wants her to have a happy ending. That would have been the easy way to go out of the show, though – I knew this story would be challenging for me, and I wanted to do it justice.

Did you have to do any research into sepsis?
I've actually got a friend who has recovered from sepsis twice, so she really helped me to understand how it affected her, and gave me a detailed response of how she felt at the time. That really helped with the physical side of it.

What would you like viewers to take away from Lily's story?
If you relate to Lily, it's so important to tell someone what you're going through, and get help. I hope it brings some awareness to self-harming, and the fact it can be life-threatening. I also hope it opens up a conversation about sepsis, and the symptoms.

What will you miss most about Hollyoaks?
All of the cast and crew, because they're just such a great team to work with. Also just the fact that I'll never play Lily again. It's been so strange. I can't thank Hollyoaks enough for giving me such a complex and amazing character to play.

Will you be tuning in to watch Lily's death scenes?
Yes, I'll definitely be watching all this week. I loved reading the scripts, and I can't wait to see how it all plays out on screen.

Laura-Jayne snoops behind the big soap headlines…

CORONATION STREET

STEVE ROBBED AT KNIFEPOINT!

The Street stalwart will be caught up in a terrifying situation…

He's renowned for having Corrie viewers in stitches – but funny man Steve McDonald's next plot is to be no laughing matter!

Horrifying snaps taken while the soap filmed on location recently reveal that the Streetcars owner will be set upon by one of his minicab passengers, after the knife-wielding wrong'un holds up a petrol garage…

"The thug is carrying a huge blade, and he doesn't look scared to use it," reckons our Coronation Street source. "Poor Steve is left fearing for his life, and drops to his knees to beg for it."

Rumour has it that Steve will pick up the brute like any other taxi fare, and will be only too happy to oblige when he asks to stop at the garage during his journey. However, the cabbie will quickly come to regret his decision when he is forced to become the man's getaway driver – before he's ordered out of the car and forced on to his knees.

It looks as if Steve will have no choice but to hand over his keys so that his kidnapper can escape – but the question is… will Steve leave with his life?

"The idea that Corrie would kill off one of its most popular characters so soon after bidding farewell to Rana Habeeb doesn't seem likely," reasons our spy. "But even if Steve does walk away unharmed, it's not the sort of experience that anyone gets over lightly."

The Corrie gang appeared to be in good spirits while filming the scenes in Bolton, despite reports that they were the victims of a real-life theft. An ITV spokesperson has confirmed that a generator was stolen in a "low-level opportunistic" incident, and that none of the cast and crew were affected.

Tune in to see how Steve manages to cope with his ordeal when the tense affair is on screen later in the spring.

Maya has spent months grooming teenager Jacob

DAVID'S DEVASTATING DISCOVERY!

Jacob's father is in for a shocking summer...

Oblivious Emmerdale dad David will soon learn the sickening truth of Maya's abuse of his teenage son Jacob.

Dales star Matthew Wolfenden – who plays the lad's father – has revealed that he's poised to film the fallout of the controversial grooming plot…

"The storyline is set to get darker, which will be hard to play, particularly because I'm a dad," shares the star, who has two children, Buster and Bowie, and a third child on the way with his wife and cast mate Charley Webb, who plays Debbie. "What you're seeing on screen at the moment wasn't too difficult for me to film, as David doesn't have a clue what is going on behind his back.

"He's naive to it and he thinks his relationship is going really well," continues Matthew. "But I've just read some scripts where things take a turn for the worse and it will be quite emotional. That's when it's going to be tough for me."

This week, Jacob dumps Maya (see p30 for the full scoop) – although the story is far from over.

"I've never been as busy in the 13 years that I've been on the show – and it doesn't look as though my workload is going to get any lighter for a while," explains Matthew. "The repercussions of things that have happened are going to take me well into the end of the summer…"

KEEP IT IN THE FAMILY!

Jason Donovan's daughter is joining Neighbours...

Ramsay Street is to welcome a new member of the Robinson family – and the actress who will be playing her happens to have an Erinsborough legend for a dad!

Jemma Donovan, the daughter of former Neighbours actor and pop singer Jason, is set to follow in the footsteps of her famous father…

"This is Jemma's moment," gushes Jason, who shot to fame playing Scott Robinson from 1986 to 1989. "There are so many great memories for me looking back, and my dad Terence [Donovan, who played Doug Willis from 1990 to 2016] had a wonderful few years. I'm sure Jemma will also embrace the experience and honour the past. What an opportunity!"

Nineteen-year-old Jemma will play "whip-smart, diplomatic and complex young girl" Harlow, and is due to make her on-screen debut in July.

Meanwhile, Neighbours is to introduce its first ever transgender character. Georgie Stone is Australia's youngest-ever person to receive hormone blockers, who successfully campaigned for a change in the law regarding treatment. The star begins filming in June, before her character arrives later this year.

Sick Rick is out to fleece the hard-working people of Weatherfield

Alex falls for Rick's patter and takes out one of his loans

Gary swindles the elderly!

THE CASH-STRAPPED BUILDER HITS A NEW LOW...

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

This is the horrible moment when Gary begins a campaign to push dodgy loans on old ladies, orchestrated by nasty loan shark Rick.

Gary's driven to an assisted living facility by his evil boss, and ordered to convince as many residents as possible to take up a loan deal. After knocking on one door, Gary is welcomed in by a trusting lady, who's delighted to offer him a cup of tea. Can he really take advantage of her in this despicable way?

"It really is a disgusting and manipulative thing to do, but Gary is terrified that if he doesn't do what he's told, the consequences will be horrifying," warns our Corrie insider. "He can't believe he's even contemplating such a thing, let alone knocking on the doors of vulnerable strangers! The problem is, he knows what Rick is capable of."

That said, Gary has done his fair share of bad things himself just lately. This week, when neighbour Mary asks him to inspect some damaged guttering, he lies and tells her that more costly work needs to be done. Poor Mary trusts him implicitly, and agrees to the inflated quote – which eases some of Gary's financial woes, yet the guilt proves a heavier burden to carry than any debt.

Worse still, after his awful visit to the retirement facility, Gary is confronted by a nightmarish scenario on his own doorstep. He sees double-dealer Rick setting to work on convincing Alex that he should take out a loan, promising him all sorts of good things and playing down the risks involved. Given that café-worker Alex's wages don't allow him to live an extravagant lifestyle, the fella is thrilled at the prospect of having extra money in his pocket. Will Gary step in and try to save him?

> "Gary is terrified – he knows what Rick is capable of..."

"He has to do something – this is a truly despicable act on Rick's part," whispers our spy. "Alex is being exploited and because he's so kind-hearted, it hasn't occurred to him that Rick might be up to no good. Gary does what he can to advise Alex against getting involved with Rick and to step away from the loan offer right away. Yet he's unable to say too much, and Alex is already too excited."

When he spots Alex presenting his Auntie Cathy with an expensive bracelet, Gary realises, to his horror, that he didn't listen and went ahead with the loan. But worse is ahead when Rick catches up with Gary and warns him not to interfere again – or Sarah and little Harry will pay the price!

MONEY WORRIES!

Nick also feels the heat when police snoop through his finances...

Nick faces his own financial nightmare this week, when the police request the factory accounts.

Sarah happily hands them over, unaware that her older brother has dark secrets hidden within the paperwork – including a trail leading back to the money he stole from his own grandma. Knowing that the investigators will comb through every line of the books, conniving Nick is terrified that they'll spot Audrey's cash and reach damning conclusions.

Later, Nick warns David that they could both face a prison sentence if questions are asked about where the money for their barber shop came from. As the net closes in, can the brothers find a way to wriggle out of trouble?

Determined Tiff exposes Dennis to his mum

EASTENDERS | BBC1 TUESDAY

Can Tiff save Dennis?

SHE TRIES TO STOP HIM FROM MAKING A BIG MISTAKE – BUT SHARON OVERHEARS...

Tiff wants to prevent Dennis from getting involved with the gang

Tiffany comes to blows with Dennis this week, as she tries to save the youngster from being drawn into the same drugs gang that almost destroyed her life – but will the stubborn lad listen?

Tiff hoped to have put her involvement with the dodgy dealers behind her, so she's alarmed when Jack tells her that the police want her to come in and make a witness statement about her experience with the gang. Bravely, Tiff agrees to tell the police what she knows – and after making the statement, she tells Jack that she hopes she'll never again have to give the gang another thought. But Dennis soon scuppers that wish by bombarding her with questions about the group…

"Tiff learned her lesson the hard way, and she's adamant that she'll stop Dennis from making the same mistakes," explains our Albert Square insider. "So when he quizzes her, she shuts him down straight away. Unfortunately, that just makes him even more determined to make his own choices, and he runs off to send a message to Stix!"

Later, as Tiff finds out that Dennis is planning to meet Stix, she begs him not to go, and encourages him to hang out with her instead. Although Dennis is initially persuaded by her words, he soon changes his mind when he overhears Tiffany joking to Sonia about having to 'babysit' him.

Furious at being patronised by Tiff, Dennis storms off home to pack his bag, telling the drug-dealer to meet him on the street outside. Unfortunately for him, he then bumps into Sharon, who rebukes him for running out on her after they had planned to spend time with each other. Thinking on his feet, the boy tells his mother that he'd forgotten he'd already agreed to meet a friend – so she relents and agrees to let him go.

"Dennis thinks he has his mum wrapped around his little finger," says our spy. "But he hasn't reckoned on Tiff turning up at the house and blowing the lid on his secret – she blurts out that Dennis is actually off to meet a dealer, and Sharon is horrified! And with Stix waiting on her doorstep, you can just imagine what she does next!"

As Sharon flies off the handle, will it be the wake-up call that Dennis needs to cut all ties with the criminals? Or will his mother's anger and Tiffany's betrayal just serve to make the teenager even more rebellious?

Who's stalking Harriet?

The church pulpit has been vandalised – so who is behind the campaign of terror?

THE POLICE NAME DAWN AS THEIR PRIME SUSPECT...

Scared Harriet brings in the police this week, following her recent shocking attack, but the mystery stalker in question isn't finished with her yet!

The vicar was blindsided by an assault in the street last week, and has no idea why she'd be a target. While Harriet wonders if it was simply a random crime, the police have other theories about who is to blame. So, when two more incidents happen – this time in the church and at the vicarage – Harriet fears that she has a stalker…

"Somebody is out to get Harriet – and they want to scare her, badly!" warns our Dales insider. "Lashing out at her was the first step, and now they've targeted her church and her home. It's a message to tell Harriet that she's not safe and they will strike at any time. That's a horrible thing for her to live with."

At the beginning of the week, PC Swirling arrives to take a statement from Harriet about the assault in the street. She didn't get a clear look at her assailant, but when the police insinuate that Dawn could be involved, Harriet quickly shuts them down. She's confident that Dawn wouldn't do something so nasty, and she's furious that people in the village have been pointing the finger. As far as Harriet is concerned, Dawn's an innocent woman.

"It's certainly true that Dawn has more motive than most to lash out at Harriet," admits our gossip. "There was a time when she blamed Harriet for all the bad things that happened to her. But they've worked through their issues, and Dawn's doing everything she can to rebuild her life and she's doing so well. Being falsely accused is going to rock her confidence and undo some of the good progress she's made. Harriet doesn't want that."

PC Swirling's investigation leads the police to point the finger

> "Somebody is out to get Harriet – and they want to scare her!"

Inevitably, Dawn finds out she's a suspect when PC Swirling asks her to answer some questions, and she's horrified to be singled out. However, Harriet is delighted that Pearl joins her in defence of the struggling youngster.

Later, when Harriet arrives home, she finds the back door has been forced open, and photos have been smashed. Then, the following morning, she walks into the church to see the pulpit is covered in red paint! Shaken by the incidents, Harriet wonders what she might have done to provoke this vicious campaign against her – after all, during her long career in the police force, Harriet angered several pretty nasty characters. Could one of them be responsible? Or might it really have something to do with Dawn?

WILL A MR & MRS QUIZ MEAN THE END OF 'CHEMMA'?

There are tough lessons in love for Gemma and Chesney this week, as Emma holds a Mr & Mrs competition in the Rovers, and the couple end up bottom of the class!

The pair come unstuck as Chesney declares his girlfriend irresponsible and they lose the game – leaving poor Gemma mortified. However, does the embarrassing result mean that their unlikely romance has failed to make the grade?

"It's no secret that Ches and Gemma are very different people – yet against the odds, they've made a go of their relationship," offers our cobbles spy. "Having Gemma move in with him has been a particularly eye-opening experience for Ches, however, and he's reached the end of his tether regarding her crazy ways. So when the lovers are kicked off the quiz for not being in tune with one another, it doesn't exactly bode well for their future together…"

Not surprisingly, Chesney isn't keen as Gemma first attempts to rope him into the Mr & Mrs event. But a brush with death – when he steps into the path of an oncoming milk float yet lives to tell the tale – gives the fella a new perspective on life. He resolves to make a will so his lad Joseph is cared for in the event of his passing, and Gemma insists she'd step up – although Ches' response reveals just how unsure he is of his partner's abilities.

"Chesney asks Tyrone and Fiz to take in Joseph!" hoots our insider. "It will come as a proper slap in the face for Gemma, who's doing her best with the youngster – however, she's hardly Mary Poppins! Ches' doubt in her parenting abilities is understandable – but how will Gemma feel when she finds out that her boyfriend doesn't trust her?"

> "It's no secret that Ches and Gemma are very different people"

There are more worrying developments to come too, once Emma begins her quiz. While Gemma is cheered as Ches declares that the two of them don't need to be married in order to prove they are committed, his suggestion that irresponsibility is her biggest fault – when she reckons it's her messiness – is a proper clanger. Is the writing on the wall for their relationship?

Chesney would want Ty and Fiz to take care of Joseph if he died

Walford welcome!

This is Mitch's chance to do right by his family – will he manage it?

KAREN'S CLAN IS FULLY ASSEMBLED IN ALBERT SQUARE...

Karen's on cloud nine this week, as her daughter Chantelle makes a home in Walford.

She's already delighted about her eldest girl's impromptu visit, so when Chantelle's husband Gray announces that he's purchased Kim's former home at No 1 Albert Square for them, Karen couldn't be more delighted…

"Her daughter and her grandkids will be right on the doorstep!" beams our Walford insider. "Say what you like about Karen and her wayward brood, but family is everything to this woman. Chantelle's name has been mentioned many times in the Taylor house since the clan first moved to the Square, and not having her around has clearly been tough for Karen. But does Gray realise what he's in for, having his feisty mother-in-law in such close confines?"

Chantelle is already in great demand as the week begins, with Denise and Kim keen to have her join them at their new salon. They're gutted when she admits she can't work for them full-time – but after Denise instructs Mitch to get involved, he's able to change his daughter's mind at her birthday lunch.

It's just before Gray makes his announcement about the house, however, that Chantelle pulls out of the job, leaving Kim certain her new business venture will be a disaster. Meanwhile, though, it's celebrations all round for Karen and co…

"Chantelle's just as chuffed as her mum that her brood is settling on the Square," says our spy. "A lot of water has gone under the bridge, and life's not always been easy for Karen and her kids. But having Chantelle so close will hopefully mean they'll soon be tighter than ever."

As the Taylors celebrate Chantelle's new home in the Vic, she even introduces her children Mia and Mackenzie to her errant father, Mitch. So as bridges are rebuilt, is struggling Mitch finally in the ideal position to turn his life around – and help his long-lost daughter to feel right at home in Walford?

SCOTT'S LATEST DRAG CREATION UNITES GRACE AND MERCEDES...

It's a jaw-dropping moment for the rivals

Mic drop! Scott delivers a great performance

Scott sets out to end the ongoing feud between Mercedes and Grace this week, as he unveils 'Gracedes' – a drag combination of both fearsome women!

Last week, the divas began a competition over who could throw the best night out. But when Grace later saw Scott performing in drag as her, for Mercedes' night at the Dog, she declared war – and the claws soon came out.

"Mercedes and Grace have loved throwing shade at each other," reveals our Hollyoaks insider. "However, after Scott's popular performance in the pub, Grace is desperate to get one up on Mercy – and books him for the Loft to perform his act as Mercedes. There's a problem, though… Scott realises he's also booked for a performance at the Dog!"

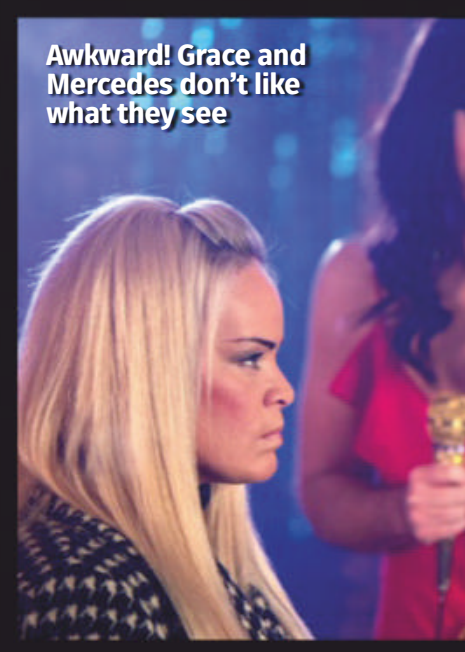

So, Scott bravely decides to take on both requests, and begins an act that embraces both women's personalities.

His depiction of the pair is almost uncanny – and as Scott begins to troll them in front of the punters, Mercedes and Grace are quick to realise that they're the butt of the joke.

"Scott sees the funny side of it," laughs our snitch. "But when Grace and Mercy come to realise that he's taking the mick out of both of them at once, they're not amused."

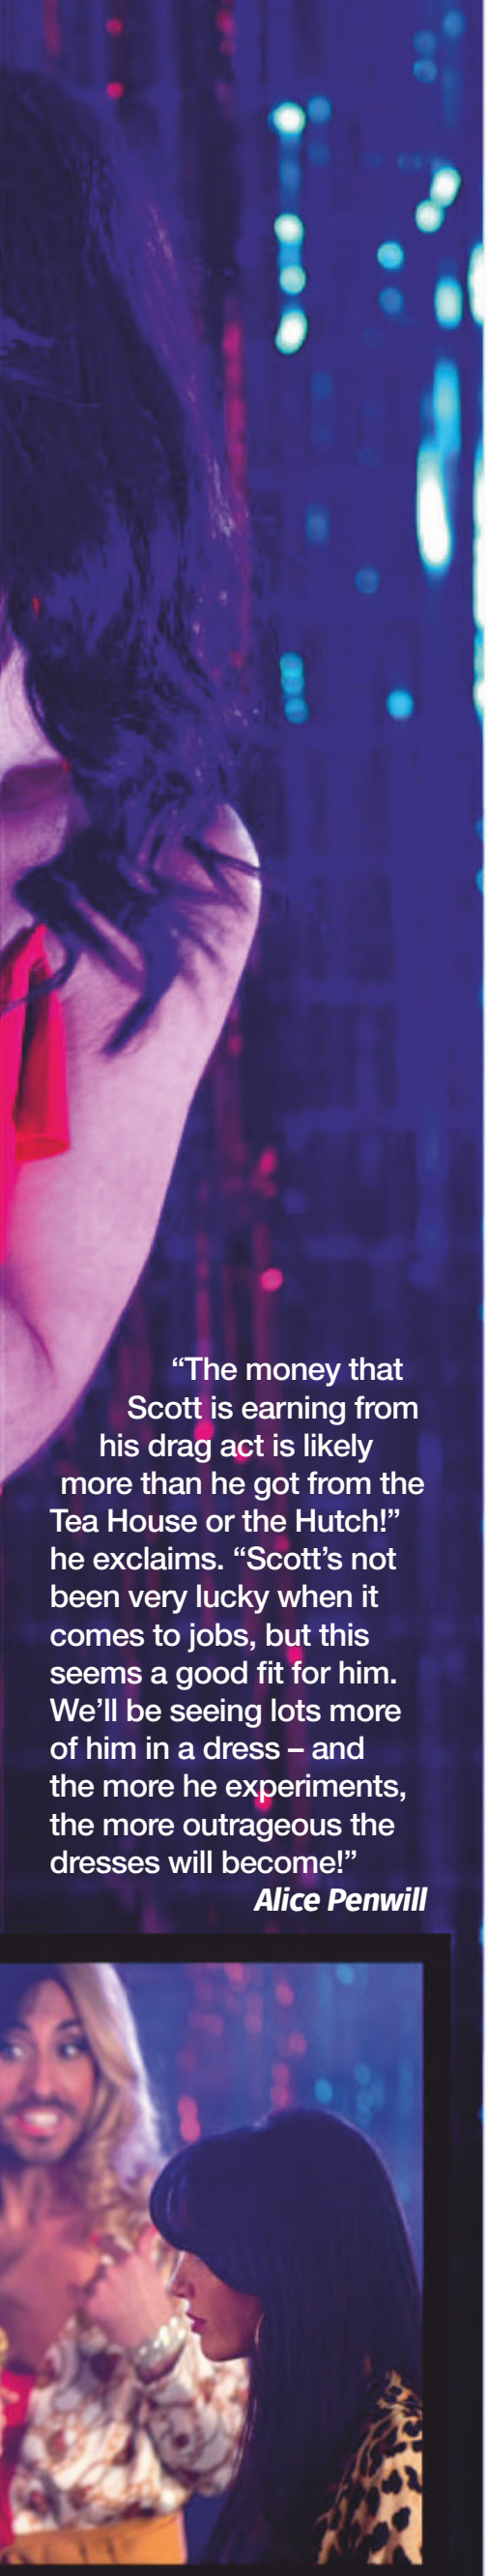

So as Scott's show enters full swing, will the warring women make up before they become the laughing stock of the village? Or has Scott just added fuel to the fire?

Whatever happens, Hollyoaks star Ross Adams – who plays Scott – has revealed that his alter ego's dresses won't be going anywhere anytime soon…

Awkward! Grace and Mercedes don't like what they see

> "Once Grace and Mercy realise what's going on, they're not so amused"

"The money that Scott is earning from his drag act is likely more than he got from the Tea House or the Hutch!" he exclaims. "Scott's not been very lucky when it comes to jobs, but this seems a good fit for him. We'll be seeing lots more of him in a dress – and the more he experiments, the more outrageous the dresses will become!"

Mel looks on as Hunter faces the court

Hunter in the dock!

MEL'S IN HELL AS HER SON APPEARS IN COURT...

Desperate Mel prays for a miracle this week, as Hunter delivers his plea to the murder of Ray Kelly.

The heartbroken mother is hoping that her son will plead not guilty and fight to get out of prison, believing that it was her fault he killed her bigamist ex. The pressure is on as Mel gets herself ready to support Hunter from the gallery, and tries to get some of her Albert Square friends to come too. But with Hunter not exactly everyone's favourite neighbour and in court for murder, it's a tough sell.

"Mel is kidding herself if she thinks anyone backs Hunter – he was deeply unpleasant to too many Walford locals," explains our EastEnders insider. "The only people who don't think the teenager has a serious personality disorder are the people who don't know him. With that reputation and now blood on his hands, nobody is queuing up to stand behind him."

Broken Mel is completely isolated while she nervously makes her way to the court, hoping that Hunter has taken her advice. The burdened businesswoman feels entirely responsible for what happened with Ray, as Hunter was trying to protect her. If she'd walked away from Ray when she first discovered his secret wives and catalogue of lies, all of this could have been prevented – and her young son would not be languishing in prison.

As the court hearing plays out, Mel knows they have got a long way to go before Hunter is freed. And what she needs most is money to pay for a top lawyer. She's already planning to part smitten ex-husband Ian from his fortune, and she's been busy trying to put the screws on Phil Mitchell too. Can she scheme her way to funding Hunter's legal team?

"It's a shame she made a bonfire out of Ray's ill-gotten gains – they would have come in very handy right now," muses our spy. "As it is, Mel's broke and in need of some serious cash, fast. She's got more than just Hunter and money problems too, there's her irritable partnership at E20 with Sharon, and that's going south, plus she may need to find somewhere else to live."

Despite once dating her, Jack Branning is running out of patience with Mel. Following a row, he hands her an eviction notice and asks her to quit the house. But, after a chat with Walford newcomer Gray, Mel changes tack and heads over to Jack's where she pours her heart out about her woes. Will Jack reconsider?

OLD FOES!

There's a nasty surprise for Mel this week when she comes face to face with Ben Mitchell.

Phil's son was boarding a ferry with a bag full of money he'd swindled off her sister-in-law, Ciara Maguire, when Mel last saw him. Mel told him to return the dosh or regret it – a threat he ignored. Ben may not have ended up with all the cash, but he did pocket a decent amount, and as he's still in rude health, it seems Mel's threat was empty.

Yet, as the duo meet, it's clear they have unfinished business. Ben winds up Mel and makes cruel digs about her son – seeing her temper flare… Are they destined to clash again?

RISHING INTO THINGS

Emmerdale's Rishi is such a fool – I don't believe for one second that Manpreet really loves him! Did you see the look on her face when she found out that Jai owned the house, not Rishi? I reckon she's only after him for his money. He'll be so hurt if he realises what she's up to.

| Talia, Huddersfield

WHODUNNIT?

The aftermath of the factory roof collapse in Corrie has been gripping, and I can't wait to see who the culprit is. It's a good idea that the health and safety inspector is someone Roy and Hayley looked after, and I'm looking forward to finding out more about Wayne. What I can't believe is that, even though Carla's consumed with guilt, she would go off with Peter without seeing Kate first!

| Ann, Runcorn

My money's on Seb being guilty – he always looks so shifty!

Carla looks set to be put through the wringer as a result of the roof collapse

TAYLOR GIFT

I don't like this new, darker version of Keanu in EastEnders. The mean and moody look doesn't suit him! Deep down he's a good lad who cares about his family – he should stop playing with the big boys, and leave the dodgy deals to Phil.

| Beryl

How long before he's back having secret hook-ups with Sharon?

Tori is a lot different from when we first met her

END OF THE TORI?

I used to really like Tori in Home and Away. She was fun, feisty, and the sort of person you'd want to have as a friend. Now she's selfish and unkind. I really feel sorry for Robbo and Jasmine – they were such a lovely couple, and Tori has ruined everything for them. I'm sure that even Leah will get tired of her whining soon.

| Nicki, Cardiff

I predict that Leah will soon be too busy romancing Justin to be worried about Tori!

IN THE FAMILY

Neighbours is so incestuous these days! Piper is sleeping with Leo, who used to date her mum, who's now with his dad! Elly slept with her fiancé's sister. Now Amy's going to have a love triangle with Gary and Kyle – who are father and son! Icky!

| Jenny

What do you expect? It's a very short street!

The Maya plot is shining a light on an important issue

DEFENDING MAYA

Am I the only person who feels slightly sorry for Emmerdale's Maya? Yes, what she is doing is WRONG. But when she first appeared in the show, she had mental health issues. She was signed off work, bullied by Leanna, and not treated that well by Liam. She threw herself into a relationship with David, who only cares about himself. The one person who's shown her any support is Jacob.

| Ethan

I'm not sure that Maya's defence will stand up in court, Ethan!

DON'T GO, DOC!

I have just read this week that Corrie's James Burrows (Dr Ali) is thinking of leaving! Please ask him to reconsider… I saw him as a young man recently in an old episode of Vera, and he was not nearly so attractive.

| Mo, Colchester

Don't fret, Mo – James will be around for at least another year!

HELLO, MUM…

What a huge coincidence that Ange moved to Holby City and just happened to meet the son she gave away when she was a teenager! Luckily, Dawn Steele (Ange) and David Ames (Dom) gave such good performances that I totally believed that he was her son.

McQUEEN WEDDING MAYHEM!

We've seen some bonkers weddings in Hollyoaks – but Myra and Mercedes' joint ceremony has to be the most OTT we've witnessed! And it wasn't Mercy causing all the drama this time round…

Every time there's a McQueen wedding, I wonder how they can possibly top the last one. But Myra's didn't disappoint! I can tell how much fun the costume designers had with that episode. Myra's dress will go down in soap history – although not necessarily for the right reasons!

| Helen

I don't think I've ever seen anything quite like Myra's dress and pumpkin carriage! I needed sunglasses just to watch the wedding episode!

| Nieve

It was so heartwarming to see Hollyoaks treating its first transgender wedding just like any other McQueen wedding – with all the drama and carnage that comes with it! I'm sad that Sally and Myra didn't get hitched in the end, as I would have liked to see them live happily ever after. But Sally deserves somebody who loves her completely.

| Angela, Brighton

Although I was really sad to see Myra go, it's so sweet the way the McQueens have welcomed Sal into the family as one of their own. I'd love to watch her let loose on a night out with Nana and the girls – I bet she has a wild side!

| Jamie, London

Some of you are just amazed at how low-key Mercy was…

I was a bit disappointed that Mercedes' wedding was so undramatic and boring! There wasn't a single punch thrown. Even Goldie behaved herself.

| Linda

Maybe that's a sign that this hubby is for keeps…

WHO'S ALEX?

When Corrie's Wayne was catching up with Roy, he said his mum Sheila had a new bloke, who's nothing like her old boyfriend Alex Swinton. Who is this Alex fella, and what did he do that was so bad?

| Jayde, Croydon

Wayne ran away from home because Alex was aggressive towards him! When Alex realised that Wayne was living with Roy and Hayley, he demanded cash from them in exchange for letting Wayne stay. The Croppers went on the run with Wayne, and Hayley even ended up serving jail time! Sheila eventually admitted that Alex was abusing her.

THE BIG interview

"Dom is broken – but Ange turning out to be his mum explains a lot!"

David Ames reacts to THAT shock Holby twist…

You know how treasured a serial drama character is when new family members are cast around them. But in the case of Holby City's Dom, he's gained a biological mother and a sister he never knew existed!

Jaws hit the floor as Holby newcomer Ange realised recently that Dom was the child she put up for adoption when she was just a teenager, setting the wheels in motion for a heartbreaking story that will see Dom go on a journey of self-discovery.

Meanwhile, the plot has given Inside Soap a great excuse to catch up with lovely David Ames, who plays Dom and is no stranger to tackling hugely powerful subject matters on the show. Here, the 35-year-old star lifts the lid on what's next for his alter ego – and teases the return of a certain surgeon whose history with Dom cuts a lot deeper than any scalpel…

Mother of all twists: Dom is struggling with the news that Ange is his biological mum, not Carole

Dom distressed: David's alter ego is going through a difficult time

Hello, David – what a massive twist for Dom! How did you react when you were first told about it?

I just thought, 'This is such a great idea!' The producers and the writers came up with it a couple of years ago, and it explains why Dom is the way he is. He's always felt like an outsider, and his relationship with his parents – his father in particular – has always been strange. So finding out about Ange explains a lot.

Was it hard keeping the plot a secret?

Absolutely. I was excited for it all to come out, and I think people will look back at a few tweets between Dawn Steele [Ange] and I, and go, 'Oh, I see!'

"Dom's relationship with his parents has always been strange…"

Did you and Dawn find out that Ange was Dom's mum when she joined Holby City?

We knew about it, yes – that was part of the reason why they invited Dawn to play Ange. As I have a huge plot with her, I really wanted to get on with her – and I'm just so lucky, because she's so incredibly talented and bloody lovely.

How is Dom feeling in the wake of receiving such a huge bombshell?

Dom is just broken. He's had the rug ripped right from underneath him, and suddenly he finds himself untethered – just floating in a sea of not knowing what's going on. And he doesn't know who to trust or who to believe. It's such a whirlwind of emotion to feel when the person you trust the most not to hurt you is your mother, and in one swoop she breaks your heart.

CONTINUED OVER ↘

"Dom and Carole will realise that you don't have to be blood to be family"

How is Dom coping working with his sister Chloe, who doesn't yet know the big secret?

He finds it very difficult. It's proving quite hard for Dom to rationalise things, and not lash out or be spiteful in the way that Dom always is. So he is trying his hardest to keep a lid on that, but inevitably it's tough for him. Ange is focusing a lot on Chloe, and I think in her eyes Dom already has a mum. She assumes he's okay, but it's really quite clear that he's not.

We reckon that you and Amy Lennox, who plays Chloe, look as if you could be related!

I thought that as well! There's a certain look about both of us where we do have a little resemblance. Amy is absolutely brilliant. She cracks me up – she's very funny, and we get on so brilliantly.

Carole wringer: Dom and the woman he thought was his mum have lots to discuss

You and Dawn had some very heavy scenes together when the truth was revealed. Did those emotions come easily?

It was quite hard, although I did some research and spoke to a few people who were adopted or didn't really know their parents. I tend to use personal experience when I'm acting, so as I haven't experienced that kind of thing, I had to draw on the nearest emotions to it for me, such as break-ups and finding out information from someone you trust. I think that it's probably the same for Dawn – we both had to get incredibly emotional.

We love Dom's adoptive mother, Carole! Is it bittersweet for you that she isn't Dom's birth mum?

Aw, when she texts me she signs it off 'Old Mum', which always makes me laugh. Julia [Deakin, who plays her] is amazing. I've been a fan of her work for years, so when Holby City first told me a couple of years ago that I was gaining a mum in the show, and who they had cast, I couldn't believe it.

Will Dom's discovery mean that we see less of Carole in the future?

She's not going anywhere and she won't suddenly disappear – quite the opposite, in fact! There's a whole lot of stuff to work through between Dom and Carole. It'll be something where they realise that you don't have to be blood to be family.

Doctor evil RETURNS!

David lifts the lid on why Isaac will be back...

When Holby City bosses released a thrilling spring preview video a few weeks ago, the clip that gleaned the biggest reaction from fans was the one of Dom coming face to face with his abusive former boyfriend and colleague, Isaac Mayfield. Ex-EastEnders star Marc Elliott is reprising the role for a story that will see Dom himself instigate the violent surgeon's return…

"Dom is going through such a huge, monumental time in his life, and everything is just so fractured," explains David. "He needs to deconstruct his life to put it back together again – and in order to do that, he needs to revisit a few demons and speak to Isaac. So Dom gets in touch with him, and it goes from there.

"People definitely didn't expect to see Isaac again, so it's great to have Marc back and have some amazing stuff with him," adds the star. "I'm looking forward to when those episodes are on screen."

“The factory workers should get Jai on a dating app!”

CHRIS BISSON WORRIES THAT HIS ALTER EGO IS MORE FOCUSSED ON DAD RISHI’S LOVE LIFE THAN HIS OWN…

EMMERDALE | ITV TUESDAY

He’s not a man with a sunny disposition at the best of times, but Jai Sharma has been like a bear with a sore head for the past couple of weeks. Understandably, he was shocked to discover dad Rishi had married girlfriend Manpreet on a whim in Vegas, just months after they started dating. Jai cannot believe his dad would be stupid enough to shack up with a woman who recently confessed to having a spending addiction. So it seems there’s little hope of Jai playing happy families with Manpreet, or her spoilt daughter Aiesha.

“Things are really tense,” admits Chris Bisson, who plays the factory boss. “Jai’s looking out for his dad, as Rishi has had his head turned by a younger woman. He’s in love with Manpreet, and willing to overlook things. But Jai’s suspicions are piqued because something just isn’t sitting right with him.”

Wedding crasher: Jai interrupts his dad’s celebrations

Money talks: Manpreet’s behaviour is giving Jai serious cause for concern

Rishi is a wealthy man, although he’s spending money as if it’s going out of fashion at the moment. Jai’s worried that Manpreet is leading him astray, and that smitten Rishi is too loved-up to notice.

“His dad is spending more and more on holidays, wedding parties, going to Vegas – and Manpreet doesn’t seem as though she has any concept of money,” warns Chris. “As a fellow addict, Jai sees things in her behaviour that he recognises from his own struggles with cocaine addiction. He hasn’t seen sufficient progress from her in dealing with the addiction – she says the right things, but there are warning signs.”

> Jai deserves a bit of happiness at some point soon…

It’ll come as no surprise that Jai isn’t a confirmed guest at the wedding celebration Rishi throws this week, yet he does show up and all hell breaks loose! That’s because he’s found evidence on Manpreet’s laptop that she’s up to her old tricks, and wants to expose her relapse in front of everyone. That’s going to lead to a massive showdown for the Sharmas – although Chris reckons Jai’s obsession with Manpreet’s failings is fuelled by his own unhappiness.

“I think Jai is struggling with his new reality,” he muses. “Post-addiction, the problems don’t go away, and they are there every day. Jai’s sober and he sees things for what they are, but he also has to maintain his own discipline in order to keep his addiction at bay. So, on the happiness scale, Jai isn’t scoring highly.”

One thing that would cheer him up is a bit of love in his life – yet Chris thinks Jai needs a shove from those around him.

“Surprisingly enough, the factory workers haven’t got him on a dating app yet!” he laughs. “I think a bit of light at the end of the tunnel would be nice for Jai. He deserves a bit of romance and happiness at some point soon.”

It’s a shame for Jai that things didn’t work out with Aiesha, because Manpreet’s daughter is moving in and that means the duo will be forced to spend lots of time together. It’s something Jai’s dreading – but Chris loves there being a new face in the mix. He’s also happy that the Sharmas have been reinvigorated by newcomers.

“It’s a good time for the Sharma clan!” he enthuses. “We have some great new characters at the factory in Dawn and Ryan, so that’s nice. The family dynamic is developing again, which is good too. Manpreet’s quite strict, Jai likes to pile into every situation in the wrong way, and Aiesha’s like a mini-Priya, so she’s an irritant for Jai. There’s plenty of conflicts and differing opinions in the house right now, which makes for a very good story!”

Old FRIENDS

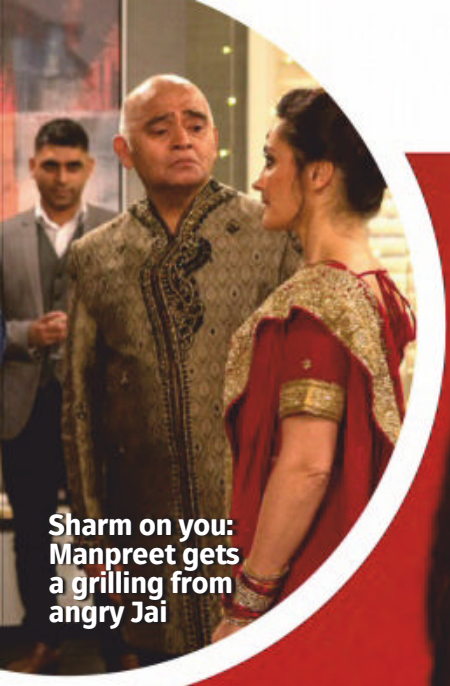

Chris is loving being reunited with his former screen sister...

They are at odds in Emmerdale, but in real life Chris adores sharing the screen with Rebecca Sarker, aka Manpreet. This isn’t the first time the pair have been in a soap together, though, as they played siblings Nita and Vikram Desai in Coronation Street…

“It’s lovely to have Rebecca on set – although it’s been years since we were both on Corrie,” shares Chris. “It’s fun to be back together again, and Rebecca is really hardworking.”

However, the dynamic is different now, with Rebecca’s alter ego married to Chris’ screen father Rishi.

“She was playing my sister, and now she’s effectively my mum!” he laughs. “I think it bothers her more than me!”

10 totally true FACTS about... Rula Lenska

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE WOMAN BEHIND CORRIE'S CLAUDIA...

1 Star Rula Lenska was born on 30 September 1947 in St Neots, Cambridgeshire. Rula's love for acting began at school. But aged 19, she was rejected from the Royal Academy Of Dramatic Art, so she went on to do a secretarial course and worked in a bank. Luckily for us, though, the lure of the stage was too strong…

2 Rula's full name is the rather grand Róza Maria Leopoldyna Łubienska – and she's actually a countess. Her family is from Poland and fled to the UK as refugees after World War II. Her mother was Polish aristocracy, but when Rula began working as an actress, she dropped the title from her name. "In Britain, it doesn't count, if you'll excuse the pun!" laughs the star. Rula has two sisters, Gabriela and Anna (pictured), who is also an actress.

3 After a long TV and film career, Rula joined Coronation Street in 2009 as Claudia Colby. "For me, this was gold dust," grins Rula. "So when an opportunity comes up of this type, it's something I sink my teeth into. It's just delightful to be in one place." Claudia soon became famed for her rocky friendship with rival salon owner Audrey, as well as romances with Lewis Archer and Ken Barlow.

4 Rula's first big acting break came in 1976, with a starring role in the ITV musical drama Rock Follies. She appeared alongside Charlotte Cornwell and Don't Cry For Me Argentina singer Julie Covington. They played members of a glam-rock group called Little Ladies. "There hadn't been a TV show like it," gushes Rula. "It had superb scripts, fantastic fantasy sequences – we knew we were working on something special." It was nominated for three BAFTAs, winning best Drama Series, and its soundtrack reached No 1 in the UK charts! A second series – Rock Follies Of '77 – which had its own soundtrack album, followed.

5 Rula is famed for her luscious locks, which brought her fame in America in the late 70s. "I got a contract to do Alberto V05 hair products," explains Rula. "At the time, I thought I was earning a vast amount of money, but later learnt that if I'd had an agent I would have earned five times as much!" Rula was also the face of Cadbury's Wispa in the 80s, and when it was brought back in the noughties after four years off the shelves.

Rula attended the choccie bar's relaunch in 2007. "It was certainly my most beloved chocolate bar," said Rula. "I was devastated to see it go. But, as so often happens, good things tend to come back in a circle."

6 Rula was once an EastEnder! Back in 2002, she starred in a week's worth of episodes filmed in Spain. She played Krystal Cunnings, a lover of Frank Butcher's who was helping him to pull off a property scam after he faked his own death. However, Krystle conned Frank, and ran off with his money!

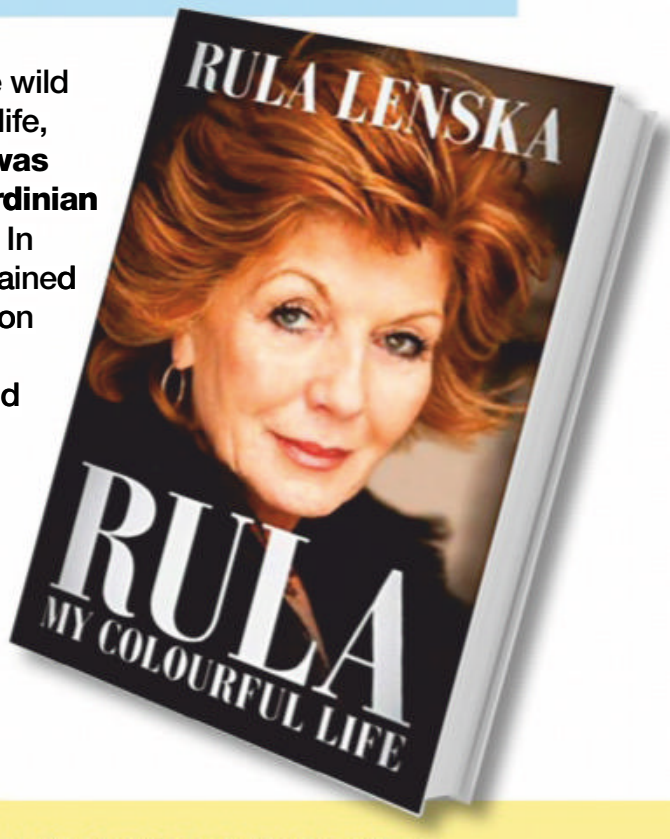

8 Rula has numerous talents aside from acting, including fluent Polish, with knowledge of French, German and Italian. She can also pilot a hot air balloon! She trained to be a pilot, but had to give up after she was unable to maintain the hours required for qualifying.

7 In 1977, Rula married actor Brian Deacon – who later found fame as Kim Tate's lover Neil Kincaid in Emmerdale – and the pair had a daughter, Lara. Rula would meet her future second husband, New Tricks' star Dennis Waterman, on the set of his hit TV show Minder. They married in 1987, but divorced 10 years later.

9 Rula has had some wild experiences in her life, and revealed she was locked up in a Sardinian prison in the 60s! In her autobiography, Rula explained that when drugs were found on the premises where she was staying, she and her boyfriend at the time were arrested. "They kept me in solitary confinement for a week or so," she reveals. "I was naively convinced that it could only last a day or so, because I had a British passport. But I was there for almost five months!"

10 Rula went into the Celebrity Big Brother house in 2006, stating, "I'm a crazy Polish countess who likes a challenge!" However, Rula was evicted on day 16 and consequently left the show. One of her most memorable moments was with George Galloway in a scene where he pretended to drink milk from her hands. "That cat scene," sighs Rula. "It will follow me to the end of my days!"

The BLAME GAME!

CORONATION STREET | ITV WEDNESDAY

IMRAN IS DESPERATE FOR VENGEANCE, WARNS CORRIE'S CHARLIE DE MELO...

Grief is a process that comes in stages, and Coronation Street's Imran Habeeb is firmly in the anger phase right now. The horrifying death of his adored sister Rana has brought his whole world crashing down, and the only thing that's keeping him going is his determination to make the culprit pay. Like most Street residents, he believes that the factory collapse is down to one person – Carla Connor – and he wants to see justice for Rana. However, his fixation on blame is causing concern for his loved ones, particularly girlfriend Toyah…

"Imran's completely devastated, and the way in which he's expressing that is by projecting everything outwards in a blind fury," warns Charlie de Melo, who plays the grief-stricken lawyer. "It all seems so senseless, and he wants to find out who's responsible. He's not satisfied with the idea that it was just an accident – that's not good enough for Imran. This needs to be a problem that he can solve – there needs to be a dragon he can slay rather than just dealing with his grief."

> Imran wants justice to be served – and it's become his obsession

Who can blame Imran? He's already suffered the loss of his father, relations are strained with his mother, and Rana is gone too. It's Toyah who's caring for him now, trying to help him make sense of what's happened – but Imran is finding it hard not to lash out.

"Toyah is trying to be measured, yet it's difficult," admits Charlie. "Imran does push back against a lot of her help and support. If you're with somebody who occupies a counselling role in their professional life, it's hard not to feel like she's on the clock. The relationship can feel like patient and therapist, rather than a couple on equal footing. However, the few times Imran really lets his guard down when he's with Toyah."

Although Toyah is doing her best to keep him stable, Imran can't help but hit out at those who he suspects are responsible. Now Carla has confessed that she knew the factory roof needed repair, Imran is keen to dig deeper – to the point where he becomes consumed with finding out the truth…

"Imran takes on a detective-type role, talking to eyewitnesses, people who worked in the factory, trying to piece the puzzle together," explains Charlie. "He thinks Nick and Carla are negligent, at best. There are people, like Peter, who seem to be acting in Carla's interests rather than those who are directly affected. Imran wants justice to be served and it becomes his obsession. As far as Imran is concerned, Carla may as well be holding a bloody knife!"

Rana's death has left Imran without a family anchor to hold him in Weatherfield, and Charlie says it's a terrible loss for Imran to bear.

"Imran's one constant has been taken away," he admits. "Others can return to work and step back into a life with some semblance of reality, but Imran doesn't have that any more. I'll miss the Imran-and-Rana dynamic, but we're going to see a different Imran now…"

Charlie misses co-star Bhavna...

Corrie favourite Bhavna Limbachia broke all our hearts with Rana's tragic exit, and it seems Charlie's still recovering from her departure.

The actor prepared himself for watching the disaster episodes, revealing on social media that he was clutching a very large glass of wine as the episodes began, with the caption, "Got a feeling I'm gonna need this tonight!"

The co-stars were close pals and had worked together since Charlie's arrival in Corrie…

"I'm sad Bhav has gone – she was the first person I worked with, and we had that sibling bond from day one, which made the difficult scenes much easier to film," he said. "I'm going to miss her!"

And Charlie reckons his screen sister was the inspiration for his performances since Rana's death.

"I wanted to do a good job and do right by Bhavna – and for the ripple effects of Rana's death to continue," he tells us. "We've seen Imran in relationships and commanding a courtroom… but to show true devastation means you have to crack your chest open a bit and show what's underneath. The scripts are so well-written, and Faye Brookes (Kate), Georgia Taylor (Toyah), Richard Hawley (Johnny) and Sally Ann Matthews (Jenny) have been so supportive that I've been able to open myself up and really explore it. I feel like I've learnt a lot, which is great!"

LORRAINE STANLEY

EastEnders' Karen Taylor

...faces your questions!

Feisty Karen is someone you might want to avoid on Albert Square. But – unlike her alter ego – EastEnder Lorraine is all smiles as she answers your questions...

"If you and Karen went on a night out, what would you get up to?"

I reckon we'd start getting ready at my flat, drinking lots of beer! And we'd have a couple of shots while we prepare to go out to the pub. Then we'd get on the karaoke, have a sing-song, and end up in a really cheesy nightclub. After that, we'd have a curry at silly o'clock in the morning, and then go back to mine!

"What would be your go-to karaoke song?"

Gloria Gaynor's I Will Survive. I'm surprised they haven't had me sing that in the Queen Vic yet! I'll put it in the suggestion box. I actually sang it while on holiday in Benidorm about 20 years ago – I think I cleared the pub!

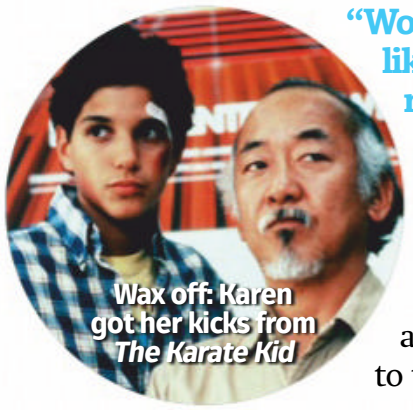

"What's the best party you've been to?"

You 'avin' a larf?: Karen with her co-stars Luisa and Ricky at our awards bash

"Where's the strangest place you've been recognised?"

I got recognised on the beach when I was on holiday in the Philippines last Christmas – that was random. We were on this little beach in Palawan when this couple came over and asked me for a selfie. They weren't Filipinos, but I couldn't believe it – I was on the other side of the world!

Wax off: Karen got her kicks from The Karate Kid

"Would you say you look like Karen when you're not in the show?"

No! Well, on Sundays I do... I just go to the shop to get a pint of milk, and put my hair up in a bun. I think we're all Karen when we go to the supermarket!

"Which EastEnders fella would you pair Karen with if she were to have a shock affair?"

I think it would have to be Patrick Trueman. That would be a shocker! He and Karen would share a drop of rum, then she'd have a little dance with him; show off her moves! I've joked about it with Rudolph [Walker, who plays Patrick] and he just laughs. He's such a lovely man – I adore him.

"If Karen could pop to any other soap for one day, which one would it be?"

It would have to be Coronation Street – I'd work behind the bar. I went to audition for Corrie once – I did a character in a northern accent for the read-through. But when I got there on the day, I just couldn't do the accent. I can only do it when I'm messing around! I was gutted.

Shut it: Karen wags a talon at Sharon in a marathon carry-on

Hanging ruff: Bronson completes the Taylor fam

"What's it like working with the dog that plays Bronson?"

He's such a scene-stealer! The other day, I was getting Bailey [Baker, played by Kara-Leah Fernandes] to stroke him while he was asleep on the sofa. He's just so beautiful and lovely – a very soppy dog. My sister had a Staffie for years. They get a bad press, but he was a gorgeous dog.

"If the Taylors won the lottery, how would they splash the cash?"

I think they'd all go on a Caribbean cruise. I'd love to see Karen with her coconuts, dancing away! They'd definitely do that. Then maybe buy a flash car, a convertible. Kandice pulled up in one once, so I think Karen would have to top that. And they'd buy a big house with a swimming pool and all jump in! I'm planning a spin-off show now, just because want to go on the cruise!

Rum do: Karen and Patrick could get it on over a tipple

"Who was your celebrity crush when you were growing up?"

I actually had a few. I think when I used to watch Neighbours it was Guy Pearce and Jason Donovan! I also fancied the boy out of The Karate Kid [Ralph Macchio] – I had a major crush on him.

"Would you ever do a reality TV show?"

I think I'd do Strictly and get my dancing shoes on – show them how it's done! Although people always say how much hard work it is, so I might backtrack on that. But I love a challenge and I really enjoy dancing – plus they need people who aren't as able! Clair [Norris, who plays Bernadette] could teach me a move or two, she's brilliant. And maybe I'd do MasterChef. I love to cook, although not under pressure. My fella's good at cooking, so I'm always telling him to go on. Definitely not Dancing On Ice – no way! I broke my arm on my skate boot years ago. I'd go into the jungle on I'm A Celebrity… Get Me Out Of Here!, too – I think that I'd enjoy that. I've jumped out of a plane before, and I've done bungee jumps, too.

"What's your favourite film ever?"

The Wizard Of Oz. I watched it as a kid thousands of times. Now my daughter has just started to get into it – she sings along and does the actions. I absolutely love watching her watching it.

"What's the best party you've been to since starting on EastEnders?"

Well, it's got to be the Inside Soap Awards! We had the best time ever. I'll be there next time, with bells on. It was so casual and laid-back, and everyone had such a laugh.

"What's it like to work with Bronson the dog?"

"Have you ever been star-struck?"

…asks reader Linda Barclay from Essex

All the time! But when I saw Will Smith at a premiere, that was a big one. I was completely gobsmacked. My boyfriend spoke to him, and he said, "You the man," and Will went, "No, you the man!" Then I gave Will a kiss on the cheek and I was happy as Larry. I think he's the most famous person I've ever met.

“Natalie’s made of strong stuff – but she’s a lot of fun!”

CORRIE NEWBIE CASSIE BRADLEY IS MAKING HER MARK ON THE COBBLES...

CORONATION STREET | ITV MONDAY

Nick might like to think he’s a master-manipulator – but while he’s a dab hand at wrapping mum Gail around his little finger, he’s currently being given the runaround by his canny blackmailer, Natalie. And if Nick reckons he’s getting one over on her anytime soon, Cassie Bradley – who plays Natalie – insists that he’s very much mistaken.

“Natalie’s more than a match for Nick!” chuckles the ex-Casualty star, as she joins us for her first Corrie chat. “When I read her character briefing, I was thinking that she’d be an amazing poker player, because you never quite know which way she’ll go. She can be manipulative, but she can also be very witty and fun!”

Nick hired Natalie’s assistance in stealing thousands from granny Audrey’s bank account – and while Aud’s still none the wiser that her beloved grandson’s a thief, that could all change if Nick can't keep Natalie sweet. She's maneuvered him into employing her at his new barber shop – and despite Nick and David's best efforts to make her life a misery there this week, she's determined to stay put. And Cassie is, too…

"Those scenes were fun to film – I'm having such a great time with Ben [Price] and Jack [P Shepherd], who play Nick and David," beams the Nottingham-born actress. "We often end up in stitches. One of the things that David gets Natalie to do is wear a 'trim reaper' outfit to give out leaflets. I had to put it on while saying two or three lines, and there was one take where I put it on backwards!

"Jack and Ben have been so lovely," adds Cassie. "They've gone out of their way to make me feel welcome and show me the ropes. Everyone here is so passionate about what they do, and I'm feeling so at home now."

New starter: But is Nick set to get his just deserts?

Having previously starred as new mum Leigh-Anne Carr in Casualty, and as ice dancer Leanne in ITV's Torvill & Dean biopic, Cassie was relieved to learn her latest alter ego would have a new name, thanks to there already being a Leanne living on the cobbles! And she's hoping that as Natalie settles in on the Street, viewers will warm to her charms.

"Natalie is made of strong stuff, but she's not malicious," she grins. "We're going to be scratching the surface to see where that resilience comes from – she's had to fight for what she has. She's also really fun, though, and always the life and soul of the party. However, you might not want to tell her your deepest, darkest secrets…

"Natalie from Notts is a great name," continues Cassie. "I'm really enjoying the cheeky humour that comes with that!"

Star Patrick O'Connor tells us that Dean's drug-taking has an unexpected result…

SLEEP WALKER!

Summer Bay bad boy Dean had his life turned upside down after witnessing his best mate Colby shoot Ross Nixon dead. He's turned to sleeping pills to help him get some shut-eye and escape the trauma he's been experiencing – but this week, he suffers strange side effects from the dodgy tablets he's been taking.

"Dean begins to sleepwalk," Home and Away star Patrick O'Connor, who plays him, tells us. "He starts doing uncharacteristic things that Dean wouldn't usually do."

But Patrick has sage words of advice for his tortured alter ego…

How did you react when you found out about the PTSD (post-traumatic stress disorder) plot, Patrick?

I was excited! I've never had the chance to play a plot quite like this. Dean hasn't had a quiet moment in the Bay, and I'm always keen to see another side of him. It's been challenging, though – PTSD is something I've not experienced.

What do viewers make of Dean?

I think they sympathise with him, seeing as though he wasn't the one who actually killed Ross – they know he tried to prevent Colby doing that. And they can see what a hard time he's been having in the aftermath.

What advice would you give Dean about his situation?

Ask for help, and go to see a doctor. It's the only way he'll be able to clear his conscience. Even if it means admitting what's going on – we all know that looking to dodgy pills is just creating another problem…

What else is coming up for Dean?

Once the pills lead to Dean making some unpredictable moves, Colby steps in to help him. We'll have to see how that pans out – but Dean gets to say a few things to his best mate that he's been holding on to!

PARTY TIME!

It takes a lot to leave us gobsmacked here at Inside Soap, but we were most certainly left speechless when we learned that Emmerdale's Fiona Wade (Priya) has just celebrated her 40th birthday. Looking no more than 20 years young, the gorgeous actress started her big day off in style as she was treated to balloons and decorations in her dressing room. Taking the celebrations into the evening, the beloved star was joined by many of her Dales cast mates, among them Michelle Hardwick (aka Vanessa), Laura Norton (who plays Kerry) and Isabel Hodgins (Victoria), who organised a big party for the birthday girl at Neighbourhood Restaurant in Leeds. Happy 40th, Fiona!

Attending accessories brand Claire's birthday bash at Westfield White City in London, Kieron looked the perfect dad as he juggled his cute twins, 22-month-old Chase and Phoebe. Rachel didn't have her hands quite so full (so to speak!), but was still in full-on mum mode as she helped 15-month-old daughter Lillian toddle around the event.

THE DURRELLS | ITV SUNDAY

IT'S ALL GREEK TO US!

INSIDE TV JOINS THE CAST ON SET IN CORFU FOR THE FAMILY DRAMA'S FINAL SERIES...

You may think that Inside TV leads a glam life, visiting the sets of TV shows and chatting to the stars. But, much as we enjoy it, it's typically more a case of hanging around for ages in a cold car park waiting for a break in filming, or getting up at 5am to get the early train to Leeds. However, in honour of the final series of ITV's The Durrells, we received a genuine once-in-a-lifetime invitation to join the cast and crew on set… in Corfu!

The Spiros is willing: Louisa's relationship with the taxi driver has hit the skids

After an hour in a car zooming across the island, Inside TV finally arrives on set in the coastal resort of Agios Stefanos – so close to the Adriatic Sea that we get a text from our mobile operator welcoming us to Albania – on an intensely hot day. Even the constant dive-bombing from Corfiot wasps can't ruin our high spirits as we sit down to chat with Keeley Hawes, alias matriarch Louisa, whose character ended the previous series heartbroken when her slow-burn love interest Spiros told her that his wife had come back to him…

"She's trying to move on, because she has to," Keeley tells us. "She's in love with a married man and it's not going to go anywhere, so she has to pick herself up. She's taking in paying guests at the house, and it's going well, I think – she has one paying guest who, unfortunately, is [cousin] Basil. But we do get others, and they come back and are threaded through the series."

Endless love?

Next up, we consult Alexis Georgoulis – who plays the family friend and taxi driver – to find out his side of the story.

"The attraction is great, but the obstacles are greater, so that only makes the passion even stronger," he teases. "We want to have something, but we can't, and in those days, to get a divorce – especially in Greece – was like a failure. So in this series, we're trying to figure out what's going on with us. We come apart for some time, then we're trying to clear up the distance between us…"

After lunch (which only makes us more attractive to

"THE OBSTACLES THEY FACE MAKE THEIR PASSION GREATER" ALEXIS

Happy as Larry: The writer has found the right type – twice only daughter of the family, struggle to find her purpose in life. However, as series four begins, Margo thinks she might have identified her calling by opening up a hair and beauty salon…

"She's a bit lost, much more so than before," reveals Daisy Waterstone, who plays her. "She feels detached from her family, and that no one really appreciates her as much as they used to. She's 18 now and has matured a lot, and she decides that maybe she wants to become a hairdresser – just to try something new!"

Animal magic!

Later in the afternoon, Inside TV completes our checklist of the younger Durrells, as Milo and Callum finish filming for the day and come to chat to us – and we're very keen to hear what new animals will be joining the family.

"Gerry is, as always, expanding his menagerie," shares Milo. "We have some new animals this year – we've got lemurs, and a gorgeous owl that we've brought in. From the start of this series, he says he's going to turn the collection into a zoo that people can visit. It's been really lovely to film those scenes."

Back to business

As for Leslie, like his mother, he experienced heartbreak in series three when he thought he was about to become a parent, only to discover that he wasn't the biological father of girlfriend Daphne's baby. Now he's looking for something else to occupy his time…

"He's still reeling a bit from everything that happened to him," admits Callum. "I think he's still pining over Daphne and the loss of being a father, but then he learns fairly quickly that he's kind of glad it didn't work out like that. And then he just starts getting into making new business ventures and trying to earn the family money again. His ideas are always completely ridiculous – so it's fun to do them!"

We couldn't possibly end our visit without a trip to the villa that plays the family home – not to mention posing for some shameless photo opportunities and a quick coo at a small selection of the show's animals. Sadly, though, there's no time to follow Margo's example and relax on a sun lounger: We have a flight home to pack for…

But once it's in the can, Josh joins us to discuss what lies ahead for writer Larry…

"He's dating two dancers," he grins. "That makes it seem like there's difficulty. There's really not – everyone is happy with the arrangement! This series, he's growing up and wanting to explore, but he doesn't want to leave the family – and there's war looming, so we see how that affects him by the end."

DAVID, AMANDA, SIMON AND ALESHA ARE BACK ON THE BUZZERS...

It might be an unlucky number for some, but Britain's Got Talent's 13th series is likely to be anything but that for whichever act wins the grand prize of £250,000 and a slot on the bill at this year's Royal Variety Performance. And just when they think they've seen it all, there are still a few shocks in store for judges Simon Cowell, Alesha Dixon, David Walliams and Amanda Holden...

What do you tend to think about when you wake up on audition day?

Simon I just hope that I'm going to be surprised that day. My biggest thing is that I hate predictability – I like to be amazed!

Alesha I wonder what time Simon is going to arrive, and how long I'm likely to sit around for, waiting for him! To be fair, we've actually accepted that he starts work so much later than the rest of us, because it means we get more of a lie-in, and Amanda and I have more time with our glam squads, so it's fine!

What has the standard of talent been like this year?

David There have been loads of surprises – lots of really good, talented people. What

CELEBS TAKE ON THE SAS CHALLENGE FOR CHARITY

Just a few weeks ago, we were applauding the stars who volunteered to appear on The Great Celebrity Bake Off For Stand Up To Cancer. We're not taking that back, but now we've seen 12 celebs put themselves through the rigours of SAS: Who Dares Wins for the same cause, we've witnessed a new level of bravery, as they're dropped in at the deep end – literally...

"I got injured on the very first thing!" admits former MP Louise Mensch. "Heights are by far my biggest fear, and having watched the other series, I said the worst thing that could happen to me is if I have to do a backwards dive, or jump out of a helicopter. So we got there and Ant Middleton did this perfect backwards dive out of the helicopter, into the lake. I was terrified. I thought I was going to fail on the first task!'"

Another celeb who doesn't make a great first impression on the instructors is Made In

I love about this show is that people will come out on stage, and sometimes you really don't know what genre of entertainment they're going to perform. Sometimes they wander on and do the most random things!

Simon I have definitely looked at the show in a different way to previous years, in that I was much more aware of what was going on – what I liked, what I didn't like. If we find one star person in the series, then we're doing well. Right now, I think there's a possibility for two – there's real potential.

And do you think all of you will be back next year?

Amanda Well, Simon's already discussing next year and has said that he wants us all back, but you never know! I would like to be back – I can't ever imagine not doing this show. I'd never go voluntarily, I love it too much, and I think that, for as long as it's still going, I want to be a part of it.

Simon Do you know what? I think we've gone past that stage of even having those conversations where they all think I make the decisions on who stays and who goes. I'd say we're all kind of stuck with each other now!

Chelsea's Sam Thompson, who found it hard to focus.

"I think you learn a lot about yourself through it," he admits. "When I came out, I'd definitely learned to not say what I'm thinking all the time, because that was a downfall in there!"

While some stars were rattled by being constantly shouted at, Loose Women's Andrea McLean was determined to get past that.

"I was the oldest person ever to have done it," she beams. "I'm 50 this year, and I wanted to show middle-aged women that we're capable of so much… I did it so you don't have to!"

TWO'S COMPANY

MARK O'SULLIVAN AND MILES CHAPMAN RETURN AS STEVENAGE'S FINEST BUILDERS...

At the beginning, Lee And Dean seemed like an ordinary comedy about two mates who run a construction company together – but we quickly realised it ran far deeper, as it explored the duo's co-dependent relationship and the possibility that their feelings for each other were more intense than either would ever dare mention. Inside TV joined creators Mark O'Sullivan (Dean) and Miles Chapman (Lee) on set for series two, to see where they stand…

What's the situation between Lee and Dean now?

Mark Everything kind of fell apart at the end of series one, and that's where we open – a few weeks later, things haven't changed. Feelings have maybe got even deeper in terms of certain relationships…

Miles …but there's a mix of reparation and deeper wounds being revealed.

Will Lee and Dean ever talk about their kiss in series one?

Miles There was a part of us that wanted to let it fester for a little bit, and not play out too quickly – because once you've done it, it's out. But if you let it simmer, it's more exciting when you eventually do.

Mark But, yeah, if you do get off with your mate – and let's face it, some of us might have done that at some point – it's not always the easiest thing to talk about!

Building his hopes up?: Dean's left on his knees

What sort of reaction did you get from viewers after the first series?

Mark We were all together for the first episode…

Miles …we'd hired a room down the pub.

Mark Yeah, and it was really awful because as episode one was going out, we were all looking at Twitter, and the initial reaction was a bit, "What the hell is this?" So we're standing there with our pints going, "Oh, we've got this totally wrong!" But then it picked up a bit, and at the end of the night a couple of big reviews came out in the nationals…

Miles … ones that were really good.

Mark So then we thought, "Maybe we've done all right!'

DONT FORGET THE DRIVER | BBC2 TUESDAY

DRIVEN TO DISTRACTION

TOBY JONES PLAYS A COACH DRIVER CAUGHT UP IN A DILEMMA...

Peter Green is a man with quite a lot on his plate. He has a stressful job as a coach driver, his mother needs looking after, his daughter is drifting through life aimlessly, and his much better-off brother lives in Australia where he isn't much help. However, Peter's life is about to get even more complicated when something very unexpected happens on his return from a trip to Dunkirk with a group of pensioners. We caught up with the show's co-writers Toby Jones – who also plays Peter – and Tim Crouch, to find out a little more…

How did the idea for this show come about?

Toby Tim's a successful writer in theatre, and was approached to see if he had any ideas for TV. He said, "I'm interested in the coach drivers who used to stop in my home town of Bognor, and who stop where I live now in Brighton. And I'm also intrigued by the webcam on Bognor beach". So they said, "Okay, write a comedy about that!" Then he rang me up and said, "This is what I've got, do you fancy it?" – and I did!

Tim, why were you so keen to set it in your home town?

Tim I lived in Bognor Regis for 18 years and my dad still lives there, so I go back there a lot – I have a very strong pull to that place. I also think how it's dealing with the modern world is an interesting theme – it's facing Europe, it's by the sea, and there's a very strong Polish community in Bognor. My dad's totally in love with the Polish and cooks a lot of their food! I really hope that Bognor doesn't get a bad rep from this – it shouldn't do. I would say the place looks more beautiful in this series than I've ever seen it!

Toby All the crew were looking for holiday homes there by the time we finished filming!

Toby, did you actually learn how to drive a coach?

Toby [Coughs] That's a subject I was hoping we would avoid! I thought I was really good, so I took the test, and I failed on

JOHN HANNAH STARS IN A NEW DRAMA ABOUT A DANGEROUS SEARCH FOR THE TRUTH...

When Craig Myers is brutally attacked in his Edinburgh home, the investigation reveals a disturbing turn of events. He's been named online as Eddie J Turner, a child murderer who was controversially released from prison and given a new identity. DI Grover, who's probing the case, believes Anna Dean (Kelly Macdonald) – mother of one of Turner's victims – may be involved. So was she behind the incendiary post? And is Craig really Eddie? Or is this mistaken identity?

"It almost turns the audience into a character in the drama, in terms of siding with different people," teases John Hannah, who plays detective Grover. "It's not entertainment for entertainment's sake: I think a lot of serious issues are addressed and explored."

The murder of Anna's son was a high-profile case at the time, and she feels let down by the justice system. And as Craig recovers in hospital, his community speculates on the rumours.

"I think everybody makes up their own mind quickly, until proven otherwise," reveals James Harkness, who plays Craig. "It's easy to point the finger – particularly on social media. And who wouldn't have sympathy for Anna? It's a terrible thing to happen. But Craig has still been done wrong…"

Sir David Attenborough is to present a landmark documentary for BBC1. In Climate Change: The Facts, scientists will explore our extreme weather, and its impact on human nature.

WHAT'S UP, DOC?

Filming has begun on a ninth series of ITV's Doc Martin. The new run sees Martin Clunes' cantankerous medic investigated by the GMC following complaints about his approach to patients, while his wife Louisa embarks on a new career as a child counsellor.

IDENTITY CHARADE

Anna Friel is to return as the troubled detective in a third series of ITV's Marcella. Following the dramatic ending of the last run, Marcella is now working undercover to infiltrate a crime family – but has she truly left her old life behind?

JESSICA LUCAS STARS AS A ROOKIE DETECTIVE OUT TO PROVE HERSELF IN A NEW CRIME DRAMA...

Making a mistake at work is bad enough in most jobs, but when you're a police officer, it could be fatal. In this new Canadian crime drama, detective Kate Jameson slips up on the job – and discovers how hard she'll need to work to come back from it…

"In the first episode, she leaves her gun in her car," reveals Gotham star Jessica Lucas, who plays Kate. "That has massive consequences for her and her partner. She spends the rest of the series keeping a giant secret from everybody, while also trying to prove that she's capable of her job."

To make matters worse, Kate comes from a family with a tradition of law enforcement, as her late father was a respected detective who was killed on duty. Now she carries the burden of potentially clouding his legacy…

Dead unlucky: A rookie error forces Kate to prove her worth

"People already think she doesn't deserve to be there – particularly her partner, Nolan Wells, who's very wary of her," shares Jessica. "He thinks she only has the job because of nepotism, so he really puts her through the wringer and makes her prove herself."

The series is set in Jessica's home town of Vancouver, which we see on our screens a lot, but usually as a double for big US cities!

"Vancouver is one of my favourite cities in the world," she enthuses. "So it was special celebrating its look and feel without trying to hide it. We really do highlight the beauty of it."

THE VOICE UK – LIVE FINAL | ITV 8.40PM

Sounds like a winner

As the saying goes, when one door closes, another opens, and ITV's primetime schedule tonight represents that perfectly, because not only do we have the new series of Britain's Got Talent (see p60), we've also got the live final of The Voice UK immediately after it. We'll be absolutely swimming in talent.

Tonight, the four remaining acts will be competing for the last time to win that coveted contract with Polydor Records. They won't be alone on stage, either, as mentors Olly Murs, Tom Jones, Jennifer Hudson and will.i.am will be joining their singers for duets, plus they'll be taking the spotlight for a very special coaches' performance, too. But the decision of who wins, as ever, is all down to you…

UNSTOPPABLE: SEAN SCULLY AND THE ART OF EVERYTHING | BBC2 9PM

Even if you don't usually find arts documentaries to be your cup of tea, we recommend giving this one a go, because abstract painter Sean Scully has led a genuinely fascinating life. Raised in poverty in Dublin and London, and frequently homeless as a child, his route into the art world has been far from conventional – but he's now one of the world's most successful and celebrated artists. This film follows him over the course of the year as he frankly (and wittily) recounts his story so far, revisits some haunts from his younger days, and explains why he's no longer fazed by rejection.

FOLLOW THE MONEY | BBC4 9PM

We were quite surprised to hear that this Danish financial crime drama was returning, because the conclusion to series two wrapped up a lot of ongoing stories and felt very, well, final. But there were a few characters still with tales left to tell, and we pick up two years down the line, as Nicky returns from Spain – where he's doing nicely supplying drugs – while Alf has PTSD after his brush with death…

VICTORIA | ITV 9PM

Bucking off

Now safely ensconced in their new Osborne House residence, Albert embraces the idyll, but Victoria is frustrated to be so far from her people (well, the Isle of Wight would've been more of a schlep back then). And things get worse for her Maj tonight, as she's faced with Skerrett's resignation, after her royal dresser's new husband Francatelli also downs utensils as cook. Yet, as Nell Hudson tells Inside TV, her character didn't necessarily want to quit Buckingham Palace…

"It was a difficult decision to make," shares the actress. "Skerrett's reluctant to go. And as there's so much political upheaval happening, she feels very disloyal about leaving Victoria, because she cares deeply about her." Sniff!

LINE OF DUTY | BBC1 9PM

Last week's cliffhanger stole all of the breath out of our lungs, and we're thrilled about that because it means Line Of Duty is back on sterling form. As ever, there's a lot we're not at liberty to tell you lest we be served with a Regulation 15 Notice of our own, but what we can say is that recent events give Kate and Steve reason to suspect the celebrations for closing the investigation into 'H' may have been premature. Having gained the requisite permissions, AC12 launches a full enquiry into the workings of Operation Pear Tree, but Steve's efforts to gather intel lead him into major danger…

HURRICANE MAN | Dave 7PM

What's the difference between a hurricane and a typhoon? Apparently it's simply a matter of geography: a typhoon is what they call a hurricane in the Western Pacific. In August 2018, Typhoon Soulik was due to hit Japan with winds of 115mph – but it's destined for the Ryukyu Islands, which Josh knows are far from ideal for hurricane-chasing. They're a long distance apart from each other, so he has to gamble on which one the storm is most likely to hit…

OUR CLASSICAL CENTURY | BBC4 9PM

Tonight's instalment brings us to the early 1950s, a time when there was a collison of classical music and popular culture. Suzy Klein and Joan Bakewell explain how rock music, film and TV all became interweaved with the classical world.

THE EVACUEES | Drama 2.20PM

THE WIDOW | ITV 9PM

Where there's a Will

Three years ago, Georgia Wells (Kate Beckinsale) was left devastated by the news that the love of her life, Will, had been killed in a plane crash in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. Since then, she has been living the life of a recluse in the Welsh countryside – until the day when she spots Will in the background of a TV report about the Congo…

Needless to say, this comes as quite a shock – but Georgia becomes convinced that her husband is still alive, and she decides that the only way she's likely to find any answers is by returning to the DRC for the first time since the fateful crash. But what awaits her when she lands in the capital city of Kinshasa – and is she putting herself in harm's way?

A HOUSE THROUGH TIME | BBC2 9PM

David Olusoga returns with a second series of the captivating alternative history show that charts the passage of time through a single house, across several centuries and multiple occupants. This time, the abode in question is 5 Ravensworth Terrace in Newcastle, currently owned by Suzi and Damian, who have lived there for two-and-a-half years. They know little about the house's history (although one of Suzi's friends believes it's haunted!), so David heads for the archives in search of stories, and uncovers the identity of the man who built the house in the 1820s.

TIMEWASTERS | ITV2 10PM

Horace is in low spirits in tonight's finale, since he's feeling unappreciated by his mates. "Being in a band is supposed to be fun," he grouses. "Yes, but being in a jazz band is supposed to be torture!" Nick corrects him. So Horace decides to run away to Hyde Park, where he's recruited into a gang of Teddy Boys, who seem much more impressed by his musical gifts. Meanwhile, Victoria has news for Jason, and Nick's jazz club is facing closure…

SUPERGIRL | Sky One 8PM

Jon Cryer of Two And A Half Men (and Superman IV: The Quest For Peace) fame begins a guest stint as Lex Luthor in tonight's episode. He wants Lena's help with a cure for his health problems, but can she trust her shady brother?

LUCIFER | Fox 9PM

More devilishly good fun awaits us tonight as Tom Ellis returns as the fallen angel. Lucifer has woken up in the desert with his wings restored, and is utterly clueless as to how he got there. Can he and Chloe figure out what the hell is going on?

Waist disposal

Dr Ranj Singh and Sian Williams are back with a whole shiny eight-part series showing us how to shift weight without forking out. Dr Ranj personally tests weight-loss products, sweating his way through calorie-burning workout gear and trying gadgets you can use from your sofa (we like the sound of those). And as the effervescent Dr Ranj tells Inside TV, he's a big fan of apps…

"We look at whether they're useful and how cost-effective they are. I find them really helpful, so they're definitely something I'd advocate. And the best thing is they're often free."

Okay, so you can lose weight without breaking the bank – or, indeed, your trouser buttons. Better put the biscuit tin away while we watch this one…

DERRY GIRLS | Channel 4 9PM

It's the last of the current series tonight, and excitement levels at Our Lady Immaculate have hit a high, because none other than US President Bill Clinton is en route to Belfast – and Derry is the next stop on his agenda. Unfortunately, though, Sister Michael has a shocking announcement to make to the girls. And while Mary gets herself in a pickle over the state of the skirting boards, Granda has a mysterious plan up his sleeve. There's a big surprise for James tonight, too… Could this be the end of the Derry Girls gang as we know it? We promise that the closing scenes will not fail to bring a lump to your throat.

9-1-1 | Sky Witness 9PM

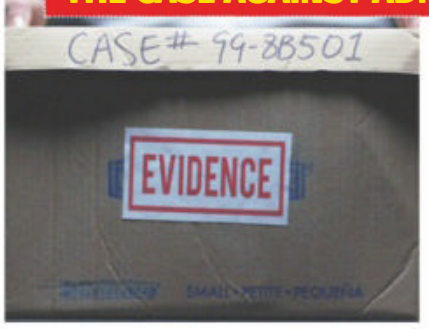

The first-responders drama returns from its winter break, and if you recall, we were left with the cliffhanger that Chim inadvertently helped Maddie's abusive ex to track her down. Neither of them knows that yet, but it means Maddie's in for an unpleasant surprise in tonight's episode, when she tries to file for divorce. Elsewhere in LA, Bobby and Athena's engagement means it's time for him to meet her parents – but it's clear her mother doesn't approve…

LOOKING FOR REMBRANDT | BBC4 9PM

Toby Jones (who's also starring in Don't Forget The Driver over on BBC2 tonight) assumes the voice of the Dutch master for this three-part documentary, exploring how he went from the darling of Amsterdam's art world to a pauper's grave.

THE CASE AGAINST ADNAN SYED | Sky Atlantic 9PM

In the penultimate episode of the documentary, Syed's 2016 post-conviction appeal hearing is coming to an end. Attorney Susan Simpson is one of many delving into the unanswered questions raised by the state's case against him…

Secrets and lies

With Nick seriously injured in hospital, an incensed Lisa seeks out Sean, who divulges something that leads the team to suspect that Nick could be holding some vital information about Holly and Dylan. With Lisa consumed by Sean's claims that Nick knows more than he's told her, not to mention facing an anxious wait to find out whether he regains consciousness, Med is starting to feel increasingly sidelined. Meanwhile, Lisa's kids are having their own issues, with Rob's attempts to leave the online forum turning out to be rather more difficult than he'd hoped, and Abbie looking for a way out from Vincent – although Sam, of all people, may have an offer that could help her out on that score…

WHITE GOLD | BBC2 10PM

Things aren't going well for the Swans tonight. Robbie has deliberately failed his exams, and there's increasing animosity between them and next door. Pat hasn't even invited the Swans to her Live Aid street party – just imagine the 80s buffet for that – and now the chances of her helping Robbie get into grammar school are even more unlikely. Meanwhile, Vincent can't make his mind up about who to take with him to Spain. As his relationship with Sam isn't in great shape, would he be better to cut his losses and running off with Jo? But then Sam, too, starts to weigh up where her future lies…

YOU VS WILD | Netflix

Fancy making Bear Grylls suffer? Here's your chance. This new interactive series sees the viewer choose what happens to Bear as he tries to survive (or not, evil) and complete missions in the harshest environments. The eight-episode Enid Blyton-style choose-your-adventure TV show lets you make key decisions to see how things pan out for the survival expert – presumably ones that can't potentially cause him to pop his hiking boots.

MS FISHER'S MODERN MURDER MYSTERIES | Alibi 9PM

It's official: Great Britain has a body-image problem, and more than a third of us have confessed to being unhappy with the way we look. Body-image expert Natasha Devon MBE and social psychologist Dr Keon West have come up with an experiment that they believe could effect real change among people with a poor self-image – but it's not for the faint-hearted…

In this inspiring new series, participants are sent to live in a Greek resort with a group of unclothed, body-positive hosts. The idea is that being around people of all shapes and sizes who are comfortable with their own bodies will help the newcomers feel the same way – but will they become bold enough to go bare, too?

POSE | BBC2 9PM

What better recommendation could we give you than the fact that this series is the new big obsession at Inside Soap Towers, and we keep comparing notes to see who's got the furthest on the iPlayer box set so far. Tonight, Candy incurs the wrath of Elektra for bringing shame upon the House of Abundance by walking in a category intended for curvy girls, also bringing back the lowest score in the history of the House for her efforts. Elsewhere, Damon is sent home from dance class after developing a fever, prompting Blanca to get the House of Evangelista tested for HIV.

DEAD PIXELS | E4 9.30PM

Alison's attempts to get her housemates to engage with her in the communal space of the spruced-up lounge fall flat, as Meg and Nicky immerse themselves yet further into Kingdom Scrolls, where tonight a wedding is taking place… between their avatars. A thought that makes them both feel physically sick. Apparently. But as Russell finally muscles his way into the fantasy world, is there a danger of real-life emotions coming in to play?

SPEECHLESS | E4 7.30PM

Straight into season two we hop, and with JJ at camp, the DiMeos realise how much they use his condition to excuse them from other things. So Maya cleans, Jimmy leaves on time and Dylan gets a job – leaving Ray at a loose end.

THE ORVILLE | Fox 9PM

After a – relatively short, in US telly terms – three-week hiatus, the crew of the USS Orville returns, wondering what the future holds. Forced to revisit the past, it's a good job they're in the capable hands of their captain. Oh.

PILGRIMAGE: THE ROAD TO ROME | BBC2 9PM

A blessing in disguise?

The pilgrims are already 500km into their journey, and despite Les' snoring, they're starting to appreciate the little joys of the simple life – especially when they're unexpectedly joined by a donkey at breakfast time. They're also discovering that fate seems to be looking out for them, like when they stop at a 'donativo' for a rest and discover that Marcello, who runs it, is a retired hairdresser – which is handy for Greg, who forgot to get a haircut before he set off. And while Marcello gives him a trim, recently retired athlete Greg seeks advice on how to approach the next stage of his career.

Advancing to the medieval city of Viterbo, the travellers are offered a pilgrim's blessing – but not everyone wants it…

SPRINGTIME ON THE FARM | Channel 5 8PM

All across this week we've been able to drop in on farms across the country during their busiest week of the year (to our mind, that would be the exact time you wouldn't want a load of TV cameras there getting in the way, surely?), and tonight marks our final visit. Former Emmerdale star Kelvin Fletcher is still lending a hand at Cannon Hall Farm in Barnsley and seeing whether he's got the farming talents of his on-screen alter ego Andy Sugden. There will also be a chance to hear more about the issues that are currently of concern to the farming community, such as extreme weather conditions.

CURFEW | Sky One 9PM

It's the series-closer tonight, so we're hoping for two cases to finally be solved: 1) who's the mystery racer? and 2) who's going to be first across the finish line? The remaining teams all pull over at the last stop, but with the prize within sniffing distance, tensions are running high. As as the final contenders emerge from the commotion, standing between them and a new life are a gun, a circular saw blade and a kitchen sink. No, we're not joking.

CHICAGO FIRE | Sky Witness 9PM

Tonight's episode is part of a crossover event with Chicago PD which, er, isn't on tonight, and doesn't even air on this channel, so don't expect total resolution. Anyway, a missing key from the firehouse's lockbox leads to a wave of burglaries.

PERCEPTION | 5USA 9PM

Season two opens with Pierce brought in as an expert witness in a murder trial. His job is to prove that the accused is fit to stand – but Pierce is convinced that the man in the dock is, psychologically speaking at least, a totally different person.

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

JENNIE McALPINE (Fiz Stape, Corrie)

IN Tyrone's other half Fiz has been away from the cobbles while she takes their daughter Hope to a special school in Birmingham. In real life, star Jennie McAlpine has been on maternity leave, after the birth of her second child, Hilda. However, Jennie says she's keen to get back to work soon. "I've been in Corrie for 17 years – I love it!" she told the Humans Of XS Manchester podcast. "I can't take it for granted, because [the writers] might have other ideas. But for now, I have my life in Manchester." Later this year

NICOLE BARBER-LANE (Myra McQueen, Hollyoaks)

OUT After 13 years, Myra has left the village, as actress Nicole Barber-Lane confirms she's decided to move on to pastures new. "I loved working at Hollyoaks," she says. "I miss everybody – it just feels like home – but I feel like I need to do something different for me. I'm so proud of the show and I love it to bits." Last week

CHRISTIE HAYES (Unknown, Neighbours)

IN Christie is best known for her role as Home and Away's Kirsty Philips, and now she's the latest star to swap Aussie soaps by joining the cast of Neighbours! Her new character is so far unnamed, but show bosses promise that she'll be thrown in at the deep end, and become embroiled in a complex love triangle! "I'm so lucky to be joining the cast of Neighbours – it's a dream come true," says Christie. "I was beyond excited when I found out I had the role, because I love acting. It's the best professional experience I have had in television, and I love waking up every day to play my character. I can't wait to keep going further in the storyline – there are a lot of layers to her!" June

THE EX FILES!

Your update on the one-time stars of soap...

AMANDA & JUNE ARE HARD-TO-PLEASE OAPS!

Ex-Corrie star Amanda Barrie (Alma Halliwell) and EastEnders' June Brown (Dot Branning) are two of the stars taking part in a new ITV show which sees pensioners getting to grips with technology. Hard To Please OAPs is a six-part series coming to your screens later in April – when you can watch Amanda and June trying out the likes of smart speakers, electric cars, remote-controlled golf trolleys, home saunas and pooper-scooper vacuums. Amanda, who's 83, says of driverless cars: "They sound really sinister and dangerous – but they're not coming out for another five years and I'll be dead by then." Meanwhile, 92-year-old star June asks: "Why isn't life simple? I hate gadgets, and I hate social networks!"

BILL TARMEY'S SON PASSES AWAY

There's some sad news for the family of former cobbles legend Bill Tarmey (Jack Duckworth), whose son – Carl Paddington – died last month, aged 52. Carl had battled a brain tumour for the past 10 years, and his dad quit his famous Corrie role in 2010 in order to spend more time with him, and to help raise money for the charity Brain Tumour Research. Sadly, Bill himself died in 2012, but although Carl had been told that he only had a year to live, he bravely defied the odds for much longer.

Coronation Street's Mikey North (Gary)

"I'm mad on my crime documentaries – Abducted In Plain Sight on Netflix is really good. It's a little bit nuts… I also like Conversations With A Killer: The Ted Bundy Tapes as well – I seem to like the twisted stuff! Streaming things on Netflix is the way it's going now, isn't it?"

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

When did Saint Sarah become so high and mighty about being part of a cover-up? After she helped bury a man under her mum's granny annexe, we presume?

Sharon's eyeshadow totally upstaged a story where Keanu is the one who's supposed to have been punched in both eyes.

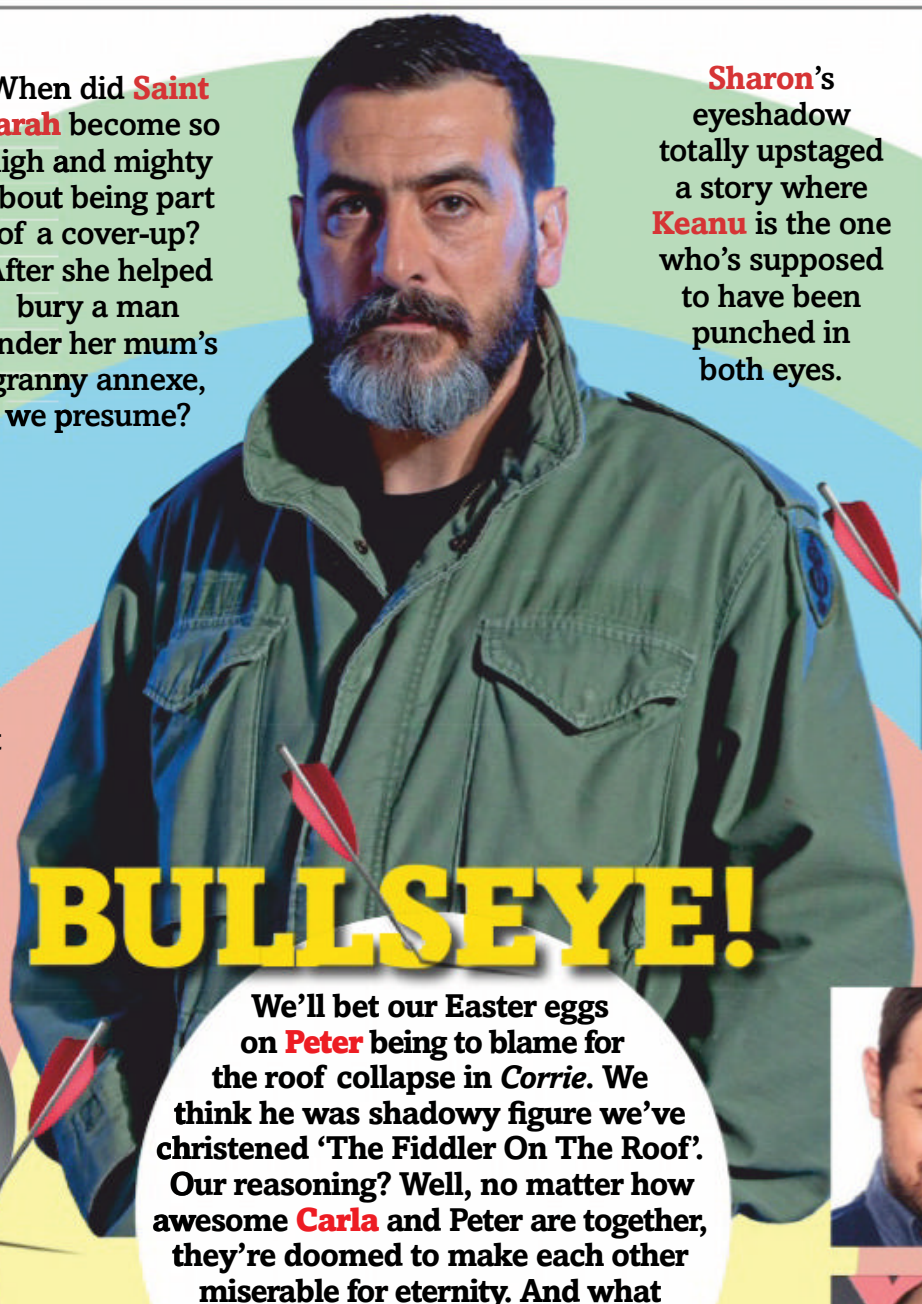

They've done a tremendous job with the recast of Wayne on Corrie. We're just sad that Hayley isn't here to see the fine, upstanding chap he's grown into.

With all the gloom in Corrie, we're grateful for the pleasure that Roy's ring has given us. It's long been a mystery. We're glad so many people are looking into it.

BULLSEYE!

We'll bet our Easter eggs on Peter being to blame for the roof collapse in Corrie. We think he was shadowy figure we've christened 'The Fiddler On The Roof'. Our reasoning? Well, no matter how awesome Carla and Peter are together, they're doomed to make each other miserable for eternity. And what could be more cruelly ironic than Peter being unable to save Carla from blame, because he committed the crime himself?

Be careful, Emmerdale. Kim's 'I want to buy-up all the property' plot has the hallmarks of a story that nearly totalled EastEnders two years ago.

So first there was Mick, then Mitch, and now a Midge. Seriously, EastEnders, are you trolling us?

Check out Keanu's big-boy leather jacket for his all-new 'gangster' life. Swipe it from Grant Mitchell's laundry basket did you, kid?

Rishi takes his job as a chocolate factory boss so seriously, he's started dressing like Willy Wonka.

Unexpected Soap Trend Alert! New hair salons opened by siblings, bank-rolled by an older family member. (At least Patrick made his investment willingly.)

It was painfully clear that Robert wasn't going to win the £1,000 prize on Come Dine With Me.

After countless weeks of listening to Moira, Cain, and Debbie arguing about Joe being dead, we're now doomed to countless weeks of them arguing about Joe being alive. Help!
